11. ENQ.: KAART 3

Kunt u met behulp van de kaart aangeven hoe tevreden U IN HET ALGEMEEN bent met wat de regering in de afgelopen 4 jaar heeft gedaan?

- . zeer tevreden
- . tevreden
- . niet tevreden, maar ook niet ontevreden
- . ontevreden
- . zeer ontevreden
- . weet niet/weigert

12a. Ik wil nu een paar vragen stellen over wat U vindt van het beleid dat de afgelopen 4 jaar door de regering gevoerd is. Allereerst de ALGEMENE ECONOMISCHE TOESTAND: denkt U dat de economische toestand door het gevoerde regeringsbeleid gunstig, ongunstig, of niet gunstig maar ook niet ongunstig is beïnvloed?

- . gunstig
- . ongunstig
- . niet gunstig/niet ongunstig
- . weet niet/weigert

12b. En de WERKGELEGENHEID: denkt U dat de werkgelegenheid in Nederland door het gevoerde regeringsbeleid gunstig, ongunstig, of niet gunstig maar ook niet ongunstig beïnvloed is?

- . gunstig
- . ongunstig
- . niet gunstig/niet ongunstig
- . weet niet/weigert

12c. En Uw PERSOONLIJKE FINANCIËLE SITUATIE, denkt U dat Uw persoonlijke financiële situatie door het gevoerde regeringbeleid gunstig, ongunstig, of niet gunstig maar ook niet ongunstig is beïnvloed?

- . gunstig
- . ongunstig
- . niet gunstig/niet ongunstig
- . weet niet/weigert

13a. Nu een paar vragen over een aantal politieke zaken die regelmatig in het nieuws zijn.

Allereerst over ABORTUS: het vrijwillig onderbreken van een zwangerschap.

Sommige mensen vinden dat de overheid abortus onder alle omstandigheden zou moeten verbieden, andere mensen vinden dat iedere vrouw zelf het recht heeft om te beslissen of ze een abortus wil. Natuurlijk zijn er ook mensen die een mening hebben die daar tussenin ligt.

ENQ.: KAART 4

Stel dat de mensen die vinden dat de overheid abortus onder alle omstandigheden zou moeten verbieden aan het BEGIN van deze lijn staan (bij cijfer 1) en dat de mensen die vinden dat iedere vrouw het recht heeft om zelf te beslissen aan het EINDE van de lijn staan (bij cijfer 7).

Ik vraag U nu eerst om een aantal politieke partijen te plaatsen op deze lijn. Als U helemaal niet weet welk standpunt een partij met betrekking tot dit probleem heeft, zegt U het dan gerust! Waar zou U het CDA op deze lijn plaatsen?

|                                              |               |   |
|----------------------------------------------|---------------|---|
| .CDA                                         | 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 | 8 |
| .PvdA                                        | 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 | 8 |
| .VVD                                         | 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 | 8 |
| .D'66                                        | 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 | 8 |
| .Waar zou U zichzelfop de lijn plaatsen? | 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 | 8 |

- 13b. Nog een kaart. Zoals U misschien weet bestaat bij sommige mensen de vrees dat er binnen afzienbare tijd een tekort aan energie in de wereld zal ontstaan. Een manier om in dit tekort te kunnen voorzien is het bouwen van KERNCENTRALES.

Sommigen vinden dat om die reden Nederland snel moet werken aan de uitbreiding van het aantal kerncentrales, anderen daarentegen vinden de gevaren te groot en vinden dat er in het geheel geen kerncentrales moeten worden gebouwd.

ENQ.: KAART 5

Aan het BEGIN van de lijn staan nu personen die vinden dat in Nederland kerncentrales erbij moeten worden gebouwd (dus bij cijfer 1); aan het EINDE van de lijn staan de personen die vinden dat er in het geheel geen kerncentrales moeten worden gebouwd (dus bij cijfer 7).

Waar zou U het CDA op deze lijn plaatsen?

|                                              |               |                   |
|----------------------------------------------|---------------|-------------------|
|                                              |               | weet niet/weigert |
| .CDA                                         | 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 | 8                 |
| .PvdA                                        | 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 | 8                 |
| .VVD                                         | 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 | 8                 |
| .D'66                                        | 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 | 8                 |
| .Waar zou U zichzelfop de lijn plaatsen? | 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 | 8                 |

- 13c. Op dit moment heeft Nederland twee kerncentrales in werking; een in Dodewaard en een in Borssele. Vindt U dat deze kerncentrales in werking moeten blijven of vindt U dat zij buiten werking gesteld moeten worden?

- . in werking blijven
- . buiten werking stellen
- . weet niet/geen antwoord

- 13d. ENQ.: KAART 6

Nog een kaart. Sommige mensen vinden dat de VERSCHILLEN IN INKOMENS IN ONS LAND groter moeten worden (bij cijfer 1). Anderen vinden dat de verschillen kleiner moeten worden (bij cijfer 7). Natuurlijk zijn er ook mensen met een mening die hier ergens tussenin ligt. Waar zou U het CDA op deze lijn plaatsen?

|                                              |               |   |
|----------------------------------------------|---------------|---|
| .CDA                                         | 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 | 8 |
| .PvdA                                        | 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 | 8 |
| .VVD                                         | 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 | 8 |
| .D'66                                        | 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 | 8 |
| .Waar zou U zichzelfop de lijn plaatsen? | 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 | 8 |

14a. Heeft U gestemd bij de verkiezingen voor het EUROPEES PARLEMENT op 15 Juni 1989?

Opmerkingen

Als na een vraag geen route-opgave aangegeven is, gaat U door naar de eerstvolgende vraag.

De antwoordcategorieën "weet niet" en "weigert" zijn niet expliciet aangegeven (tenzij daarna een speciale routing volgt) omdat deze standaard bij elke vraag opgenomen worden.

De vragen aangeduid met een gewoon cijfer vormen samen het vaste deel van de SKON. Het variabel deel van de SKON wordt gevormd door de vragen met "V" voor het cijfer. Staat er "C" of "S" voor het cijfer, dan betreft het vragen van het CBS.

Als er in een vraag "$" voorkomt tussen haakjes, dan wordt de hier in te vullen tekst geïmputeerd uit het antwoord op vraag 4.

14. Nu een paar vragen over politieke zaken die regelmatig in het nieuws zijn.

Als een arts het leven van een patiënt op diens verzoek beëindigd noemen we dat EUTHANASIE.

Euthanasie is op dit moment verboden en sommigen vinden dat het zo moet blijven. Anderen vinden dat een arts altijd euthanasie mag toepassen als de patiënt de wens daartoe te kennen geeft. Natuurlijk zijn er ook mensen met een mening die daar tussenin ligt.

ENQ.: KAART 2

Stel: de mensen die vinden dat euthanasie verboden moet blijven staan aan het BEGIN van de lijn (bij cijfer 1) en de mensen die vinden dat de arts altijd euthanasie mag toepassen als de patiënt daarom vraagt staan aan het EINDE van de lijn (bij cijfer 7).

Dus: begin van de lijn: euthanasie is altijd verboden; eind van de lijn: euthanasie mag.

Ik ga U nu eerst vragen om politieke partijen te plaatsen op deze lijn. Als U helemaal niet weet welk standpunt een partij heeft, zegt U het dan gerust!

Waar zou U het CDA op de lijn plaatsen?

- |                                               |         |
|-----------------------------------------------|---------|

15. Zoals U misschien weet is Nederland lid van de NAVO en liggen op een aantal plaatsen in Nederland kernwapens opgeslagen. Nu wordt over deze kernbewapening verschillend gedacht. Sommigen vinden dat Nederland hieraan helemaal niet meer moet meewerken, anderen vinden dat Nederland binnen de NAVO haar bestaande taken gewoon moet uitvoeren, en weer anderen vinden dat de kernbewapening moet worden versterkt.

ENQ.: KAART 3

Ik lees nu een aantal uitspraken voor en wilt U mij dan zeggen met behulp van deze kaart in hoeverre U het met deze uitspraak eens of oneens bent?

1=helemaal eens

2=eens

3=niet eens/niet oneens

4=oneens

5=helemaal oneens

- A. Nederland moet, ongeacht wat andere landen doen, alle kernwapens van z'n grondgebied verwijderen. . 1...5
- B. Nederland moet, desnoods onafhankelijk van de andere NAVO-landen, het goede voorbeeld geven en het aantal kernwapens op zijn grondgebied verminderen. . 1...5
- C. Nederland moet er naar streven dat de NAVO haar kernbewapening vermindert, ongeacht of de Sovjet Unie dat ook doet. . 1...5
- D. Nederland moet er naar streven dat de NAVO pas haar kernbewapening vermindert als de Sovjet Unie dat ook doet. . 1...5
- E. Nederland moet er naar streven dat de NAVO haar kernbewapening versterkt om vanuit een gunstige positie met de Sovjet Unie te kunnen onderhandelen. . 1...5

17. Twee grote problemen van de Nederlandse economie zijn de WERKLOOSHEID en het feit dat de overheid meer geld uitgeeft dan ze ontvangt: het zogenaamde FINANCIERINGSTEKORT. Veel mensen zijn van mening dat het niet mogelijk is deze twee problemen tegelijkertijd op te lossen.

Wat moet naar Uw mening de komende 4 jaar voorrang krijgen: het verminderen van de werkloosheid of het verminderen van het financieringstekort?

V01a. In de politiek is het niet altijd mogelijk alles wat men zich voorgenomen heeft in één keer te bereiken.
Er zal vaak een keuze gemaakt moeten worden.
Op deze kaart staan enkele doelstellingen die men in de politiek kan nastreven.
ENQ.: KAART 14
Stel dat U persoonlijk hieruit moet kiezen: wat is dan Uw EERSTE keuze?

- . de orde in dit land handhaven
- . de politieke inspraak van de burgers vergroten
- . prijsstijgingen tegengaan
- . de vrijheid van meningsuiting beschermen

V01b. Wat zou Uw tweede keus zijn?

- . de orde in dit land handhaven
- . de politieke inspraak van de burgers vergroten
- . prijsstijgingen tegengaan
- . de vrijheid van meningsuiting beschermen

V01c. En wat zou U op de derde plaats zetten?

- . de orde in dit land handhaven
- . de politieke inspraak van de burgers vergroten
- . prijsstijgingen tegengaan
- . de vrijheid van meningsuiting beschermen

V02a. ENQ.: KAARTENSET

Op deze kaarten staan enkele doelen waarop ons land zich volgens sommige mensen moet richten.
Op iedere kaart staat een letter. Wilt U de letters opnoemen van de DRIE doelstellingen die voor U persoonlijk het MEEST belangrijk zijn?

. a..h

V02b. En welke drie vindt U persoonlijk het MINST belangrijk?

. a..h

V06. Ik zou graag van U weten hoe sympathiek U enkele van onze politici vindt. U kunt iedere politicus hiervoor punten geven tussen de 0 en de 100. Hoe sympathieker U een politicus vindt, hoe meer punten U hem of haar geeft. 50 Betekent dat U iemand niet sympathiek, maar ook niet onsympathiek vindt.

ENQ.: KAART 15

Als eerste nemen we Ruud Lubbers. Hoeveel punten zou U hem geven?

| En Rudolf de Korte?      | . 0..100 |
| En Neelie Smit-Kroes?    | . 0..100 |

V013a. Sommige mensen denken bij wat ze doen in de eerste plaats aan zichzelf of hun eigen welzijn. Andere mensen houden in hun gedrag steeds rekening met het welzijn van anderen.

ENQ.: KAART 16

Deze lijn loopt van "gericht op het eigen welzijn" (bij cijfer 1) tot "gericht op het welzijn van anderen" (bij cijfer 10). En er zijn natuurlijk ook mogelijkheden daar tussenin.

Als U zou moeten aangeven hoe DE MEESTE MENSEN zich gedragen, waar zou U hen dan plaatsen op deze lijn? Noemt U maar het cijfer dat van toepassing is.

. 1..10

V013b. En waar zou U zichzelf op de lijn plaatsen?

NATIONAAL KIEZERSONDERZOEK 1989

KERNCIJFERS

DEEL 3. RELIGIE EN POLITIEKE ASPECTEN

weegprocedure en nauwkeurigheid van de resultaten wordt verwezen naar de eerste kerncijferpublicatie (CBS, 1990b).

1.2 Korte verantwoording van de methodiek

Om uitspraken te doen over de stemgerechtigden in Nederland zijn interviews gehouden onder een steekproef van stemgerechtigden. Deze steekproef is verkregen door een trekking van adressen uit het Geografisch Basisregister (GBR). Het GBR wordt beheerd door het CBS en berust voornamelijk op het afgiftepuntenbestand van de PTT. Op ieder adres is a-select van elk huishouden één persoon gekozen en geënquêteerd.

Het veldwerk is verricht in twee periodes: in de periode vóór de verkiezingen van 25 juli tot en met 5 september (de eerste golf) en van 11 september tot en met 7 november 1989 (de tweede golf). Aangezien uitsluitend de personen voor een tweede gesprek in aanmerking kwamen die ook vóór de verkiezingen van 6 september hadden deelgenomen, was de periode van 25 juli tot 6 september voor het onderzoek erg belangrijk. Dit was een moeilijke tijd om veldwerk te verrichten. Het betrof een vakantieperiode waardoor bepaalde bevolkingscategorieën minder vaak thuis aangetroffen konden worden, met name in het westen van het land. Bovendien werd deze periode gekenmerkt door prachtig zomerweer.

Op de 4 000 benaderde adressen werden 4 054 personen geselecteerd waarvan er ongeveer 3 808 in aanmerking kwamen voor een vraaggesprek. Uiteindelijk werd van deze groep bij 1 754 personen vóór de verkiezingen een vraaggesprek gerealiseerd, dit wil zeggen een respons van 46%. Van deze 1 754 personen deden 248 personen niet mee aan het vraaggesprek ná de verkiezingen. Uiteindelijk zijn dus bij 1 506 personen beide interviews gerealiseerd. Dit betekent dat de totale respons gelijk is aan 40%. Als belangrijkste reden voor het niet-plaatsvinden van het vraaggesprek geldt de 'weigering': 41% weigerde om aan het onderzoek deel te nemen. Deze omvangrijke non-respons is niet nieuw, maar blijft een punt dat aandacht verdient.

In de responderende steekproef zijn niet alle bevolkingsgroepen in dezelfde mate vertegenwoordigd. Zo is in de steekproef het percentage dat gestemd heeft (92,6%) hoger dan verwacht kon worden op basis van de stembusuitslag (80,3%). Met andere woorden: de niet-stemmers zijn in de steekproef ondervertegenwoordigd. Ook is de vertegenwoordiging van 18-24 jarigen, de 65-plussers, vrouwen en lager opgeleiden gering. Oververtegenwoordigd zijn de 25-54 jarigen, de mannen en hoger opgeleiden. Door een correctie-procedure is getracht te bereiken dat de herwogen steekproef een zo goed mogelijke afspiegeling vormt van de populatie stemgerechtigden. De verdeling van de kenmerken leeftijd, geslacht, burgerlijke staat, urbanisatiegraad, landsdeel en stemgedrag benadert op deze wijze de verdeling in de populatie. Dit betekent echter niet dat de steekproef in alle opzichten een juiste afspiegeling is van de populatie. Bepaalde groepen zullen naar alle waarschijnlijkheid in de steekproef oververtegenwoordigd zijn (bijvoorbeeld partijleden, politiek geïnteresseerden). Met dat gegeven moet men rekening houden bij het gebruik van de resultaten. Bovendien zijn als gevolg van de gehanteerde correctie-procedure de werkelijke betrouwbaarheidsmarges rondom de percentages en gemiddelden van de kenmerken soms groter dan die welke uit de berekening volgen. Dit geldt met name voor het kenmerk '(wel/niet) stemmen' en daarmee sterk samenhangende kenmerken.

1.3 Data-verzameling

De interviews zijn mondeling afgenomen. Daarbij is gebruik gemaakt van kleine, draagbare 'personal' computers. De vragen, de antwoordmogelijkheden (bij de 'gesloten' vragen), alsmede de 'routing' van de vragenlijst werden voor dit doel met behulp van het pakket in de computer 'Blaise' ingevoerd. De vraag die aan de orde is, komt op deze wijze automatisch op het scherm van de computer. De gegevens worden op floppy's opgeslagen en aan het CBS verzonden. Vergeleken met de papieren vragenlijst kan een veel ingewikkelder routing door de vragenlijst worden gevolgd zonder de enquêtrice in moeilijkheden te brengen. Een groot voordeel is eveneens dat door vooraf ingebrachte (waarde- en relatie-)controles eventuele correcties reeds tijdens het vraaggesprek kunnen plaatsvinden op het moment dat een juist antwoord nog verkregen kan worden.

1.4 Rapportage van de gegevens

Voor een goed begrip van de uitkomsten gaan we kort in op enkele van de genoemde achtergrondkenmerken. Leeftijd is onderverdeeld in zeven groepen. Bij het kenmerk opleiding wordt een vierdeling gehanteerd. Gevraagd is naar de hoogst voltooide opleiding. Het inkomen van het huishouden heeft betrekking op het totale netto inkomen van alle gezinsleden bij elkaar opgeteld. In de tabellen waarin kenmerken uitgesplitst worden naar het stemgedrag, hanteren wij de volgende tweedeling: 1. wel of niet gestemd hebben; 2. partijkeuze: Groen Links, PvdA, D'66, CDA, VVD en 'Klein-Rechts'. Hierbij wordt opgemerkt dat Groen Links ten tijde van de verkiezingen in feite (nog) geen politieke partij was. De CPN, EVP, PPR, PSP samen met enkele politici zonder partij hebben met een gemeenschappelijk programma en één kandidatenlijst deelgenomen aan de Kamerverkiezingen waarna ze één fractie vormen. Tevens is een aantal stemmen uitgebracht op de confessionele partijen Staatkundig Gereformeerde Partij, Gereformeerd Politiek Verbond en Reformatorische Politieke Federatie. In het vervolg van deze publikatie worden deze drie partijen (SGP, GPV, RPF) te zamen aangeduid als 'Klein Rechts'.

Dit betekent dat de ondervraagden die op een andere partij hebben gestemd, in de tabellen naar partijkeuze buiten beschouwing worden gelaten in verband met het relatief kleine aantal respondenten dat op een dergelijke partij heeft gestemd. Dit geldt ook voor de ondervraagden die niet gestemd hebben, alsmede voor degenen die geen antwoord op de vraag gaven.

In de vorm van tabellen wordt gerapporteerd over de personen die zowel vóór als na de verkiezingen aan het onderzoek hebben meegewerkt. Daarbij is het totaal gebaseerd op het (ongewogen) aantal mensen dat een bruikbaar antwoord gaf op de desbetreffende vragen. De percentages in de tabellen, die in tegenstelling tot de totalen gebaseerd zijn op de herwogen gegevens, slaan op de fracties personen binnen een bepaalde bevolkingscategorie (b.v. mannen). Met een tabel (zie CBS, 1990b, Aanhangsel 4) kan men de betrouwbaarheidsmarges van de percentages vaststellen. Als gevolg van de toegepaste weegprocedure wordt in sommige gevallen het verschil in percentage tussen bepaalde bevolkingsgroepen (mede) veroorzaakt wordt door het toekennen van ongelijke gewichten. Met name geldt dit voor het kenmerk '(wel/niet) stemmen'. De verschillen kunnen dan over het algemeen groter zijn dan die welke uit de te berekenen betrouwbaarheidsmarges volgen.

Naast de percentages wordt bij elke tabel een maat gepresenteerd die de sterkte van de samenhang tussen de twee kenmerken van de tabel weergeeft: Cramér's V of de Phi-coëfficiënt (alleen voor 2 bij 2 tabellen). Deze maten hebben uitsluitend tot doel om de sterkte van het verband in de tabel uit te drukken en hebben geen betrekking op het significantie-niveau (de mate van zekerheid dat het verband niet op toeval berust). De opname van de vermelde maten kan de lezer op een relatief snelle manier inzicht geven in de sterkte van de samenhangen tussen de

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT OF ASSISTANCE

All manuscripts utilizing the data documented in this codebook should identify the original collectors of the data. All users are urged to include some adaptation of the following statement in their publication (the brackets indicate items which can be inserted or deleted as appropriate):

The data [and tabulations] utilized in this [publication] were originally collected for the Dutch Parliamentary Election Study 1989 by the Netherlands Central Bureau of Statistics, in close cooperation with the Dutch Electoral Research Foundation (SKON). This study has been made possible by grants from the Ministry of Education, the Ministry of the Interior, the Social and Cultural Planning Office, the Netherlands Organization for Scientific Research (NWO), and the Departments of Political Science of the University of Amsterdam and the Catholic University of Nijmegen. The original collectors of the data do not bear any responsibility for the analyses or interpretations published here. The data file has been prepared and documented by SKON, with the assistance of CBS. The data are distributed by Steinmetz Archive, Amsterdam.

In order to provide the funding agencies with essential information about the use of the data that have been collected with their assistance, each user of the data is expected to send two copies of each completed manuscript to the Dutch Electoral Research Foundation:

PART 1

GENERAL INFORMATION

1.1 Introduction

The Dutch Parliamentary Election Study 1989 is the eighth in a series of national election studies. Previous studies have been conducted around the elections for the Second Chamber of Parliament in 1967, 1971, 1972, 1977, 1981, 1982, and 1986. The 1989 study focuses on the September 6, 1989 elections for the Second Chamber of Parliament. These elections were called early, due to the fall of the Lubbers-II cabinet on May 2nd.

This codebook provides information about the organization and design of the Dutch Parliamentary Election Study 1989 and about the contents of the data file. To that end, the book has been divided into four parts. The first part of the book contains all relevant information about the general aspects of the study, such as funding, fieldwork, nonresponse, and data processing. The second part of the book contains all relevant information about the variables in the data file, such as variable numbers, variable labels, frequency distributions, English language question texts, and coding of missing values. The third part of the book contains reproductions of the (electronic) questionnaires and the showcards that were used for the interviews. Finally, the fourth and last part of this codebook consists of twenty appendices with additional information on either specific variables included in the data file or on contextual aspects of the study.

1.2 Funding

The Dutch Parliamentary Election Study 1989 has been made possible by grants from the Ministry of Education, the Ministry of the Interior, the Social and Cultural Planning Office (SCP) and the Netherlands Organization for Scientific Research (NWO). Additional personnel as well as computing and printing facilities were contributed by the Department of Political Science (PSCW) of the University of Amsterdam and by the Department of Political Science of the Catholic University of Nijmegen.

1.3 Organization

The fieldwork of the Dutch Parliamentary Election Study 1989 was carried out by the Netherlands Central Bureau of Statistics (CBS). The interviews were conducted by CBS's own corps of interviewers. The study coincided with a transition within CBS from paper-and-pencil interviewing to computer-assisted interviewing by means of laptop computers. This study was the first to be conducted solely by means of laptop computers.

The interviewers were instructed during two meetings. The first meeting was a technical meeting in which the prospective interviewers were taught how to work with the new computers. The second meeting was used to inform the interviewers about more specific aspects of the study, in particular the design and the contents of the questionnaires. After these meetings, the interviewers received printed instructions, which summarized the most important points of both meetings. About one week before the field work started, the interviewers received the electronic questionnaires. This gave the interviewers enough time to become familiar with the questionnaires by administering them to friends or relatives, or by filling them out personally.

The questionnaires were designed by the board of the Dutch Electoral Research Foundation, abbreviated as SKON (Stichting Kiezersonderzoek Nederland). SKON is the formal successor of the interuniversity workgroups that were responsible for the Dutch Parliamentary Election Studies in the 1971-1986 period. At the time of the 1989 study, the board of SKON consisted of prof. dr. J.J.A. Thomassen (University of Twente, Chair), dr. B. Niemöller (University of Amsterdam, Secretary and Treasurer), dr. J.W. van Deth (University of Twente), dr. C. van der Eijk (University of Amsterdam), and prof. G.A. Irwin Ph.D. (University of Leiden).

The questionnaires have two parts. The first part, the so-called 'fixed part', contains topics that, according to the board, should in general be included in the Dutch Parliamentary Election Studies. This part includes such variables as party choice, party adherence, issues orientations, and candidate evaluations. The second part is known as the 'variable part' of the questionnaire and consists of questions that have been proposed by scholars in the field. This part usually serves rather specific research projects. The board of SKON evaluated the proposed questions and determined whether or not they should be included in the questionnaires. In 1989, the variable part of the questionnaire was somewhat shorter than in previous studies, due to disagreement about the length of the questionnaires between SKON and CBS, and the latter's decision to curtail the questionnaire of the second wave of interviews only days before the fieldwork started.

By contract, CBS has the right to add questions to the questionnaires. The organization does so at its own expense and no permission of SKON is needed. In 1989, CBS actually made use of this right by adding several questions to (the end of) the questionnaires. As these questions do not form an integral part of the Dutch Parliamentary Election Study, the data obtained with them have not been included in the data file.

1.4 Study design

The 1989 study has been designed as a two wave, short-term panel study, and was carried out on the basis of a representative sample of the Dutch electorate at the time of the parliamentary elections. The first wave of interviews was conducted before the election in the period from July 15 until September 5 (one day before the election). This period coincided with the summer vacation period in the western part of the country, which may have had a negative effect on the response rate (refer to section 6 about response and nonresponse). The second wave of interviews started on September 9 (three days after the election) and continued through November 13. By this time all vacations had ended. The fieldwork did not encounter meaningful problems.

In addition to the election study documented in this codebook, the Dutch Electoral Research Foundation (SKON) also conducted a new wave of interviews for the 1986-1989 panel study. This panel already had been interviewed twice in 1986 (first and second wave of interviews of the fresh sample), and the interviews conducted in 1989 thus formed the third wave of the panel. The documentation of the panel study is presented in a separate codebook (Van der Eijk, Irwin, and Niemöller 1993).

1.5 Sampling information

To obtain a representative sample of the 1989 electorate, a similar sampling procedure has been employed as in 1981, 1982, and 1986. The sampling procedure is a two-stage procedure, which starts with a sample of households, after which one eligible citizen per household is randomly selected for interviewing. An extensive discussion of the merits of this procedure vis-a-vis other possibilities has been presented by Van der Eijk, Niemöller, and Eggen (1981); also refer to Van der Eijk and Irwin (1988).

The sample of households has been drawn from the Geographic base register (Geografisch basisregister). This is an address register maintained by CBS. This register is based to a large extent on the national mail delivery register (postafgiftepuntenbestand). The sample size has been set at 4,000. To keep travel time and therefore costs within acceptable limits, the minimum number of addresses to be sampled for each municipality in the sample (i.e., the cluster size) has been set at sixteen. Thus, municipalities with more than 30,000 inhabitants were automatically included in the sample, as they contained sixteen or more sampled addresses. A random sample was drawn from the remaining municipalities with less than 30,000 inhabitants. Although most mail delivery points coincide with separate households, occasionally two or more households belong to the same mail delivery point. In such cases, each household (to a maximum of three) was included in the sample. Due to this phenomenon, the 4,000 addresses visited by the interviewers produced a total of 4,054 different households.

From all eligible citizens within each household, one person was randomly selected by interviewing the person whose birthday was first. No substitution by another person was allowed in case of refusal, no-contact or other factors precluding an interview.

1.6 Response and nonresponse

Several actions were taken to increase the response rate for both waves of interviews. First, a letter of introduction was mailed to all sampled mail delivery points. This letter explained the nature of the study, announced that an interviewer would come along, and contained a telephone number for those persons who would like to have more information about the study. The letter also included the name of the interviewer, his or her telephone number, the intended date of visiting and information about whether the interviewer would show up in the morning, in the afternoon, or in the evening. Second, the interviewers were encouraged to visit the addresses as often as they thought was reasonably possible.

The following table contains a summary of the response and nonresponse for the first wave of interviews:

|                              |       |          |
|------------------------------|-------|----------|
| Response wave 1:             | 1,754 | (46.1%)  |
| Nonresponse wave 1:          |       |          |
| refusals                     | 1,485 | (39.0%)  |
| respondent too busy          | 23    | (0.6%)   |
| illness                      | 25    | (0.7%)   |
| no contact                   | 321   | (8.4%)   |
| no reason registered         | 111   | (2.9%)   |
| not approached               | 39    | (1.0%)   |
| language barrier             | 49    | (1.3%)   |
| Gross sample:                | 3,808 | (100.0%) |
| Other causes of nonresponse: |       |          |
| uninhabited dwelling         | 177   |          |
| no eligible citizens         | 69    |          |
| Original sample:             | 4,054 |          |

For the second wave of interviews, the numbers are as follows:

|                                    |       |          |
|------------------------------------|-------|----------|
| Response wave 2:                   | 1,506 | (85.9%)  |
| Nonresponse wave 2:                |       |          |
| refusals                           | 170   | (9.7%)   |
| respondent too busy                | 20    | (1.1%)   |
| illness                            | 15    | (0.9%)   |
| no contact                         | 37    | (2.1%)   |
| wrong person interviewed           | 7     | (0.4%)   |
| Number of respondents from wave 1: | 1,754 | (100.0%) |

The following tables contain a breakdown of the distribution of nonresponse by various geographical characteristics for both the first and the second wave of interviews. These tables give an impression of the extent to which (non)response is evenly spread over the country. The percentage base used is the number of eligible citizens in the gross sample.

These tables show that response is not evenly spread over the country. Compared with other parts of the country, response rates tend to be lower in the big cities (Amsterdam, Rotterdam, and The Hague) and in the provinces of Groningen, Flevoland, and Zeeland.

1.7 Data processing

Data processing and data cleaning have been performed by the authors of this codebook, with two exceptions. The coding of the party choice motivations (refer to Appendix 10) has been performed by drs. J.J.M. van Holsteyn (University of Leiden), while the coding of the most important problems based on the 1986 coding scheme (refer to Appendix 3) was performed by CBS, in particular drs. J.J.G. Schmeets. CBS also provided the information about response and nonresponse.

Incorrect data entries were corrected only if it was possible to establish unequivocally that the interviewer or the coder made mistakes in recording or coding the answers. If it was obvious that the interviewer had made a mistake and the correct code could not be established without doubt, the incorrect codes were replaced by missing data codes.

The data file contains various extra variables that have been added for the convenience of the analyst. The construction of these additional variables is documented partly in section 2.3 of this codebook (documentation of variables), and, when extensive, in separate appendices.

The data file has been affected by CBS's policy to prevent the possible identification of individual respondents. Due to this privacy protection policy, some of the variables have been categorized in terms of cruder categories (as compared to previous Dutch Parliamentary Election Studies), while other variables have been excluded from the data file altogether. In the documentation of variables section of this codebook (section 2.3), the affected categories have been marked by an asterisk (*).

The affected variables are the following:

---

- did (not) vote in 1989 European elections;
- age of respondent;
- education of head of household;
- education of respondent;
- degree of urbanization;
- region;
- typology of household composition;

The excluded variables are the following:

- electoral cohort;
- birth date of all members of the household;
- sex and marital status of all members of the household other than the respondent;
- number of individuals in the household;
- number of eligible citizens in the household;
- province;
- size of municipality;
- municipality code;
- nodal area code;
- verbatim answer to the question on motivation for party choice;
- verbatim answer to the question on motivation for not voting;
- verbatim answer to the question on motivation for preferential vote;
- detailed information on occupational status of respondent;
- detailed information on occupational status of head of household;
- all information about history of the fieldwork.

1.8 Data files

The Dutch Parliamentary Election Study 1989 is available as a 'public documentation file' (which is documented in this codebook) and as a 'micro file.' The latter differs from the former in that it contains some of the information that CBS considers to be privacy sensitive (refer to Appendix 20 for details). The public documentation file is available without restrictions. To obtain the micro file, prospective users have to sign a contract with CBS. This contract has to be signed also by the president or director of the institution with which the prospective user is affiliated. The micro file is not accessible to foreign researchers, unless they reside in the Netherlands.

Like all previous Dutch Parliamentary Election Studies, the 1989 study (the public documentation file) can be obtained from Steinmetz Archive in Amsterdam (the Netherlands) or from the Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research (ICPSR) in Ann Arbor (United States). The data can be obtained in one of the following formats:

- an SPSS export file, containing 1,754 cases and 310 variables. This file is fully labeled, contains missing value definitions, and includes a document text.

- a utility file, containing labels for variables and values, and missing value definitions. This utility file contains only normal ASCII code, and thus can also be edited in such a way that it can serve to label a data file in a different format than SPSS.

In addition to the data described in this codebook, a small data file exists with 4,054 records, each of which represents one of the cases in the sample of mail delivery points. For each case, the file contains a number of variables by means of which the entire sample history can be reconstructed. This file, however, has not been released by CBS for general use, as it contains information that may possibly lead to the identification of individual respondents. Readers who would like to use this data file should therefore contact CBS directly.

2.2 Guide to documentation of variables

This section serves as a guide to the documentation of variables part of the codebook (section 2.3). It does so by means of two reproductions of variables documented in the codebook, which have been presented below. These reproductions pertain to 'education of head of household' and 'region'.

All variables in the data files have been documented in the same format. Thirteen different types of information have been distinguished, and the two reproductions contain at least one example of all thirteen types. Each type is represented by means of a small printed number followed by a parenthesis. These numbers are not printed in the actual documentation of variables part, but are references to the descriptions that follow these reproductions.

QUEST 46a<sup>3)</sup>
MD = GE 7<sup>4)</sup>

The next questions apply to the member of the household who contributes most to the family income.

Did he or she obtain an educational degree after elementary school, that is, with a diploma or certificate?

What, then, is his or her highest educational degree?<sup>5)</sup>

Refer to Appendix 6 for a more detailed description of the codes.<sup>6)</sup>

|     |                                                  |       |       |                    |

VAR106 Region

QUEST
MD = none

Refer to Appendix 9 for a description of the codes.

|     |       |       |       |       |
|-----|-------|-------|-------|-------|
| *1. | west  | 792   | 45.2  | 45.2  |
| 2.  | north | 214   | 12.2  | 12.2  |
| 3.  | east  | 351   | 20.0  | 20.0  |
| *4. | south | 397   | 22.6  | 22.6  |
|     |       | 1,754 | 100.0 | 100.0 |

Note: contents of the codes 'west' and 'south' is different from previous Dutch Parliamentary Studies.<sup>13)</sup>

1. Variable name, which in this particular case is equal to VAR101. A variable name is assigned to each of the 310 variables in the data file.
2. Variable label used in the data file. In this case, Var101 has the label 'Education of head of household.'
3. Question number used in the questionnaire to identify the question by means of which the data for the documented variable were obtained. In this case, the question number is 46a. Information about the particular wave in which this question was asked is contained in the header of the page on which the variable is documented (which, in this case, appears to be wave 1).
4. Missing data definition for the documented variable. This definition contains all the values for the documented variable that have been coded as 'missing' in the data file. In this case, all values equal to or greater than 7 have been coded as missing.
5. English translation of original Dutch question text by means of which the data stored in the documented variable have been collected. The original Dutch question text can be retrieved from the facsimiles of the questionnaires presented in part 3.
6. Additional information about the variable or reference to the place where such information can be found. In this case, the reader is referred to appendix 6 where more detailed information about the documented variable can be found.
7. Values of the codes for each category of the documented variable in the data file. Values marked by an asterisk (*) have been affected by CBS's privacy protection policy (also refer to section 1.7), implying that more detailed information is available but that this information has not been released as it may lead to the possible identification of individual respondents.
8. Labels of the values. Each category has been assigned a different label. In this case, the labels are 'elementary education' and 'more than elementary education'.
9. Absolute and relative frequency of occurrence of each code in the data file. In this case, 110 heads of household have enjoyed no more than elementary education. This amounts to 6.3% of all respondents in the data file, or to 18.9% of all valid responses; that is, the responses that are not coded as missing data (MD).
10. This is a frequently used value label, indicating a 'don't know' response. In this case, 3 respondents did not know how much education the head of household had enjoyed.
11. This is a frequently used label, indicating that no answer has been ascertained. It is used for all situations in which no response was recorded other than a consequence of routing. In this case, for one respondent no answer has been ascertained.
12. This is a frequently used label, indicating 'inappropriate.' This code is assigned when respondents were not presented the question as a consequence of routing. In this case, 1,169 respondents were not asked this question as they had stated earlier that they were actually the head of their household (this information is stored in code 1 of VAR100, hence the extra information '(VAR100, code 1)' in the label of the INAP category).
13. Cautionary remark about the variable. In most cases, these remarks pertain to 'hidden' differences with previous Dutch Parliamentary Election Studies that otherwise easily would be missed.

VAR037 Abortion - perception of CDA

QUEST 13a
MD = GE 97

And now a few questions about a number of political topics that are frequently in the news.

First abortion: the voluntary termination of a pregnancy.

Some people think that the government should forbid abortion in all circumstances; other people think that every woman should have the right to decide whether she wants an abortion. Of course, there are also people with an intermediate opinion. Suppose we place the people who think that abortion should be forbidden under all circumstances at the beginning of this line (at number 1) and the people who think that every woman has the right to decide for herself at the end of this line (at number 7).

First, I shall ask you to indicate the position of a number of political parties on this line. If you do not know what position a party has on this issue, please do not hesitate to tell me!

Where would you place the
CDA on this line?

VAR042      Nuclear plants - perception of CDA

QUEST 14a
MD = GE 97

Here is another showcard. As you may know, some people fear that within the foreseeable future a shortage of energy will occur in the world. One means of fulfilling this need is to build nuclear power plants. Some people, therefore, believe that the Netherlands should quickly increase the number of such plants. Others, on the other hand, consider the dangers too great and think that no nuclear power plants should be built at all.

At the beginning of this line are the people who think that additional nuclear plants should be built in the Netherlands (at number 1); at the end of the line are the people who think that no new nuclear plants should be built at all (at number 7).

Where would you place the CDA on this line?

VAR064 Should car owners pay for pollution?QUEST 22a
MD = GE 97

Environmental pollution by cars, agriculture and industry is becoming progressively worse. Reducing this problem costs money. The question is who should pay; the polluter because he directly caused the problem, or the community, because it is a problem of all of us. You can indicate your position by means of a number. The closer to 1, the more the polluter has to pay and the closer to 7, the more the community has to pay.

1 means: the polluter must pay all

7 means: the community must pay all

Which number is the best representation of your opinion about the reduction of pollution caused by cars?

VAR067 CDA and VVD - cooperation in past government

QUEST 23a

MD = GE 97

And now some questions about the cooperation among political parties. In the past years there was a government of CDA and VVD. How good or how bad do you think the cooperation between CDA and VVD has been in the past period?

The numbers on the line indicate how good or how bad: 1 stands for very bad, 7 for very good, and the other numbers for an opinion somewhere in between.

Select the number that best represents your opinion.

Showcard 9 presented, listing a horizontal line with seven categories numbered 1 to 7, categories 1 and 7 labeled as described in question text. At the right of this line the number '8' was printed, labeled 'don't know'.

VAR123*Income of respondent's household

QUEST 61
MD = GE 97

On this card are some income levels. Could you indicate in which of the categories the net income of your household falls? Please indicate the total net income of all of the family members together, after deduction of taxes and the like. Extra income from overtime and income of children must be included. Child payments, welfare payments, social security, and pensions also count as income.

In case respondent complains or hesitates: This question is very important for this research. I can guarantee you that this remains absolutely secret, but for scientific research it is important that the information from all respondents be collected.

Could you indicate which of the situations on this card apply to you and your partner? Please indicate the letter that applies to you.

VAR168*Euthanasia - perception of CDA

QUEST 17a
MD = GE 97

Now a few questions about political affairs that are regularly in the news. When a doctor ends the life of a person at the latter's request, this is called euthanasia. At the moment, euthanasia is forbidden by law and some people feel it should stay that way. Others feel that a doctor should always be allowed to end a life, if the patient makes that request. Of course, there are also people whose opinions lie somewhere in between.

Suppose that the people who would like euthanasia to be forbidden are at the beginning of this line (at number 1), and the people who feel that a doctor should always be allowed to end a life upon a patient's request are at the end of the line (at number 7). So beginning of the line: euthanasia should always be forbidden; end of the line: euthanasia is allowed.

I will ask you first to place some political parties on the line. If you have no idea at all which position a party has, then please feel free to say so.

Where would
you place the
CDA on this line?

VAR183 Reduce deficit or reduce unemployment?QUEST 20
MD = GE 7

Two big problems in the Dutch economy are unemployment and the fact that the government spends more money than it takes in, the so-called government budget deficit. Many people feel that it is not possible to solve these two problems simultaneously. Which should, in your opinion, take precedence during the coming four years: the reduction of unemployment, or the reduction of the budget deficit?

Probability of future vote for PvdA

QUEST 35a
MD = GE 97

Some people are quite certain that they will always vote for the same party. Others reconsider in each case to which party they will give their vote.

I shall mention a number of parties. Would you indicate for each party how probable it is that you will ever vote for that party? Mention to me the number that applies to the party. If you do not know a party or if you have no answer, feel free to say so and we shall continue with the next party.

The PvdA?

Showcard 13 presented, listing a horizontal line with ten categories numbered 1 to 10, category 1 labeled 'I will certainly never vote for this party' and category 10 labeled 'I will vote for this party some time certainly'.

VAR261*Should there be confessional parties?

QUEST 36a
MD = GE 7

Some people feel that political parties should be completely separated from religion. Others feel that political parties should in fact be based upon religion. In that regard they think about a general Christian party or separate Roman Catholic or Protestant parties. Similar opinions are possible for trade unions, schools and broadcasting organizations. What is your opinion as far as the political parties are concerned? Please give your answer with the assistance of this card.

VAR277 Sympathy score Lubbers

QUEST 40a
MD = GE 997

I would like to know how sympathetic you find some of our politicians. To this end, you can assign each politician between 0 and 100 points. The more sympathetic you find a politician, the more points you give to him or her. A score of 50 means that you find someone neither sympathetic nor unsympathetic. First we mention Ruud Lubbers. How many points would you give to him?

Showcard 17 presented, containing a vertical line, with categories marked 0, 10, 20, ..., 100. Category 0 labeled 'very unsympathetic; category 50 labeled 'neither sympathetic, nor unsympathetic', and category 100 labeled 'very sympathetic'.

Refer to Appendix 5 for further information on politicians.

VAR288 Egoism versus altruism - most people

QUEST 41a
MD = GE 97

Some people are primarily concerned with themselves or their own well-being. Other people continually take other people's well-being into account.

This line runs from 'focused on own well-being' (at number 1) to 'focused on other people's well-being' (at number 10). And, of course, there are also classes in between.

If you were to indicate how most people behave, where would you place them on this line? Please give me the number that applies to them.

Showcard 18 presented, listing a horizontal line with ten categories numbered 1 to 10, category 1 labeled 'focused on own well-being' and category 10 labeled 'focused on other people's well-being'.

PART 3

QUESTIONNAIRES

3.1 Introduction

This part of the codebook contains reproductions of the questionnaires and showcards that were used for both waves of interviews. As the 1989 study was the first Dutch Parliamentary Election Study for which the data were collected by means of computer-assisted interviewing, it is no longer possible to simply provide facsimiles of the original questionnaires and showcards. Instead, an attempt was made to reproduce as closely as possible the information on the computer screens as they were shown to the interviewers. Copies of the original interviewing programs, which run on any type of IBM pc computer, can be obtained from the SKON secretariat.

The following remarks pertain to the information contained in this part of the codebook:

- All question texts are in Dutch. English translations of these questions can be found in the variable documentation part of this codebook.
- Each question was presented on a separate screen, along with the answering categories. The interviewer read the text of the question to the respondent and recorded the answer given by the respondent by typing the number of the precoded categories, or by typing the full answer if necessary. The answering categories were not read to the respondents.
- The answering categories 'don't know' and 'refused to answer' were not shown on the screens, but could be entered for each question by striking the (somewhat obscure) keys '[' and ']', respectively.
- The interviewer could always type extra information in a special 'memo field', which could be entered by striking a specified key combination ('Ctrl F4').
- In addition to the question text and answering categories, the screens also contained interviewer instructions. Most of these instructions were preceded by the letters 'ENQ:'. The instructions occasionally contained the CBS-abbreviation 'OP', which stands for 'person being interviewed' (onderzoekspersoon). Another important set of interviewer instructions pertains to the (range of the) codes that could be entered by the interviewer. These instructions were all shown within parentheses and read something like 'voer getal in tussen ... en ...'. Of course, none of these instructions were read to the respondents.
- The routing of the questions is indicated by the words 'Ga naar [question number]' after each answering category. In all cases where such an indication is absent, the interview proceeded with the question next in line. Although the 'don't know' and 'refused to answer' codes were not shown on the screen, they have been included in the reproductions in all cases where the presence of a routing had to be indicated. These codes are not preceded by a code to emphasize that these answering categories were not shown on the computer screen.
- The questionnaires contain five so-called 'question boxes', which consist of series of questions that were developed by CBS. These boxes are characterized by fairly complex routing schemes that would be very difficult to grasp if they were summarized in the 'standard' form. It was therefore decided to summarize them graphically by means of the question boxes. The descriptions of these question boxes were provided by CBS.

- The text of the questions has been copied as closely as possible from the original questionnaires, except for spelling errors. All words shown in uppercase (written that way in order to instruct the interviewers to emphasize these words) were also projected that way on the computer screens.
- Occasionally, part of the information obtained by means of previous questions (for example, the name of the party a respondent voted for) was imputed in the text of other questions. Whenever this was done, this is indicated by means of a square opening bracket ([) at the beginning of the imputed text and a square closing bracket (]) at the end of the imputed text.
- The questionnaires only contain those questions that were actually used to collect part of the information that is included in the data file. Questions that were asked, but which did not result in any information for the data file are not listed. This means that the questionnaires do not contain all the questions that were actually asked during the fieldwork. At the end of the first wave of interviews, a small number of questions were asked about whether and where the respondent could be contacted for a second interview. At the beginning of the second questionnaire, the respondents were asked to tell their birth date, in order to make sure that no other person was being interviewed. At the end of this wave, the respondents were asked if they agreed to be interviewed a third time around the next elections as part of the 1989-1994 panel study. In addition, CBS also added some of its own questions (refer to section 1.3 for details).

The contents of this part of the codebook are as follows: the questions asked in the first wave of interviews are listed in section 3.2; while the showcards of this wave are shown in section 3.3. The questions of the second wave of interviews are listed in section 3.4; the associated showcards are shown in section 3.5.

11. ENQ: Overhandig kaart 3

Kunt u met behulp van de kaart aangeven hoe tevreden u IN HET ALGEMEEN bent met wat de regering in de afgelopen 4 jaar heeft gedaan?

1. zeer tevreden
2. tevreden
3. niet tevreden, maar ook niet ontevreden
4. ontevreden
5. zeer ontevreden

12a. Ik wil nu een paar vragen stellen over wat u vindt van het beleid dat de afgelopen 4 jaar door de regering gevoerd is. Allereerst de ALGEMENE ECONOMISCHE TOESTAND: denkt u dat de economische toestand door het gevoerde regeringsbeleid 'gunstig', 'ongunstig', of 'niet gunstig maar ook niet ongunstig' is beïnvloed?

1. gunstig
2. ongunstig
3. niet gunstig/niet ongunstig

12b. En de WERKGELEGENHEID: denkt u dat de werkgelegenheid in Nederland door het gevoerde regeringsbeleid 'gunstig', 'ongunstig', of 'niet gunstig maar ook niet ongunstig' beïnvloed is?

1. gunstig
2. ongunstig
3. niet gunstig/niet ongunstig

12c. En uw PERSOONLIJKE FINANCIËLE SITUATIE, denkt u dat uw persoonlijke financiële situatie door het gevoerde regeringsbeleid 'gunstig', 'ongunstig', of 'niet gunstig maar ook niet ongunstig' is beïnvloed?

1. gunstig
2. ongunstig
3. niet gunstig/niet ongunstig

13a. Nu een paar vragen over zaken die regelmatig in het nieuws zijn.

Allereerst over ABORTUS: het vrijwillig onderbreken van een zwangerschap. Sommige mensen vinden dat de overheid abortus onder alle omstandigheden zou moeten verbieden, andere mensen vinden dat iedere vrouw zelf het recht heeft om te beslissen of ze een abortus wil. Natuurlijk zijn er ook mensen die een mening hebben die daar tussen in ligt.

ENQ: Overhandig kaart 4

Stel dat de mensen die vinden dat de overheid onder alle omstandigheden abortus zou moeten verbieden aan het BEGIN van deze lijn staan (bij het cijfer 1) en dat de mensen die vinden dat iedere vrouw het recht heeft om zelf te beslissen, aan het EINDE van deze lijn staan (bij het cijfer 7).

Ik vraag u nu eerst om een aantal politieke partijen te plaatsen op deze lijn. Als u helemaal niet weet welk standpunt een partij met betrekking tot dit probleem heeft, zegt u het dan gerust.

Waar zou u het CDA op deze lijn plaatsen?

(voer getal in tussen 1 en 7)

13b. En de PvdA?

(voer getal in tussen 1 en 7)

13c. En de VVD?

(voer getal in tussen 1 en 7)

13d. En D66?

(voer getal in tussen 1 en 7)

13e. En waar zou u zichzelf op deze lijn plaatsen?

(voer getal in tussen 1 en 7)

14a. Zoals u misschien weet bestaat bij sommige mensen de vrees dat er binnen afzienbare tijd een tekort aan energie in de wereld zal ontstaan. Een manier om in dit tekort te kunnen voorzien is het bouwen van KERNCENTRALES.

Sommigen vinden dat om die reden Nederland snel moet werken aan de uitbreiding van het aantal kerncentrales, anderen daarentegen vinden de gevaren te groot en vinden dat er in het geheel geen kerncentrales moeten worden gebouwd.

ENQ: Overhandig kaart 5

Aan het BEGIN van de lijn staan nu personen die vinden dat in Nederland kerncentrales erbij moeten worden gebouwd (dus bij cijfer 1); aan het EINDE van de lijn staan de personen die vinden dat er in het geheel geen kerncentrales moeten worden gebouwd (dus bij cijfer 7).

Waar zou u het CDA op deze lijn plaatsen?

(voer getal in tussen 1 en 7)

14b. En de pvdA?

14e. En waar zou u zichzelf op deze lijn plaatsen?

15. Op dit moment heeft Nederland twee kerncentrales in werking; een in Dodewaard en een in Borssele. Vindt u dat deze kerncentrales in werking moeten blijven of vindt u dat zij buiten werking gesteld moeten worden?

1. in werking blijven
2. buiten werking stellen

16a. ENQ: Overhandig kaart 6

Nog een kaart. Sommige mensen vinden dat DE VERSCHILLEN IN INKOMENS IN ONS LAND groter moeten worden (bij cijfer 1). Anderen vinden dat deze verschillen kleiner moeten worden (bij cijfer 7). Natuurlijk zijn er ook mensen met een mening die hier ergens tussen in ligt.

Waar zou u het CDA op deze lijn plaatsen?

- 17a. Nu een paar vragen over politieke zaken die regelmatig in het nieuws zijn. Als een arts het leven van een patiënt op diens verzoek beëindigt noemen we dat EUTHANASIE.
Euthanasie is op dit moment verboden en sommigen vinden dat het zo moet blijven. Anderen vinden dat een arts altijd euthanasie mag toepassen als de patiënt de wens daartoe te kennen geeft. Natuurlijk zijn er ook mensen met een mening die daar tussenin ligt.

ENQ: Kaart 2

Stel: de mensen die vinden dat euthanasie verboden moet blijven staan aan het BEGIN van de lijn (bij cijfer 1) en de mensen die vinden dat de arts altijd euthanasie mag toepassen als de patiënt daarom vraagt staan aan het EINDE van de lijn (bij cijfer 7).

Dus: begin van de lijn: euthanasie is altijd verboden; eind van de lijn: euthanasie mag.

Ik ga U nu eerst vragen om politieke partijen te plaatsen op deze lijn. Als U helemaal niet weet welk standpunt een partij heeft, zegt U het dan gerust!

Waar zou U het CDA op de lijn plaatsen?

(voer getal in tussen 1 en 7)

- 17b. En waar de PvdA?

(voer getal in tussen 1 en 7)

- 17c. En waar de VVD?

(voer getal in tussen 1 en 7)

- 18a. Zoals U misschien weet is Nederland lid van de NAVO en liggen op een aantal plaatsen in Nederland kernwapens opgeslagen. Nu wordt over deze kernbewapening verschillend gedacht. Sommigen vinden dat Nederland hieraan helemaal niet meer moet meewerken, anderen vinden dat Nederland binnen de NAVO haar bestaande taken gewoon moet uitvoeren, en weer anderen vinden dat de kernbewapening moet worden versterkt.

ENQ: Kaart 3

Ik lees nu een aantal uitspraken voor en wilt U mij dan zeggen met behulp van deze kaart in hoeverre U het met deze uitspraak eens of oneens bent?

Nederland moet, ongeacht wat andere landen doen, alle kernwapens van z'n grondgebied verwijderen.

1. helemaal mee eens
2. eens
3. niet mee eens, maar ook niet mee oneens
4. oneens
5. helemaal oneens

- 18b. Nederland moet, desnoods onafhankelijk van de andere NAVO-landen, het goede voorbeeld geven en het aantal kernwapens op zijn grondgebied verminderen.

1. helemaal mee eens
2. eens
3. niet mee eens, maar ook niet mee oneens
4. oneens
5. helemaal oneens

- 18c. Nederland moet er naar streven dat de NAVO haar kernbewapening vermindert, ongeacht of de Sovjet-Unie dat ook doet.

1. helemaal mee eens
2. eens
3. niet mee eens, maar ook niet mee oneens
4. oneens
5. helemaal oneens

- 18d. Nederland moet er naar streven dat de NAVO pas haar kernbewapening vermindert als de Sovjet-Unie dat ook doet.

1. helemaal mee eens
2. eens
3. niet mee eens, maar ook niet mee oneens
4. oneens
5. helemaal oneens

- 18e. Nederland moet er naar streven dat de NAVO haar kernbewapening versterkt om vanuit een gunstige positie met de Sovjet-Unie te kunnen onderhandelen.

1. helemaal mee eens
2. eens
3. niet mee eens, maar ook niet mee oneens
4. oneens
5. helemaal oneens

20. Twee grote problemen van de Nederlandse economie zijn de WERKLOOSHEID en het feit dat de overheid meer geld uitgeeft dan ze ontvangt: het zogenaamde FINANCIERINGSTEKORT. Veel mensen zijn van mening dat het niet mogelijk is deze twee problemen tegelijkertijd op te lossen.

Wat moet naar Uw mening de komende 4 jaar voorrang krijgen: het verminderen van de werkloosheid of het verminderen van het financieringstekort?

1. verminderen werkloosheid
2. verminderen financieringstekort

21a. NU EEN PAAR VRAGEN MET BETREKKING TOT ECONOMISCHE VRAAGSTUKKEN.

Als U naar de komende 4 jaar kijkt en denkt aan UW EIGEN FINANCIËLE SITUATIE: verwacht U dan dat een kabinet van CDA en VVD op Uw eigen financiële situatie een gunstige invloed, een ongunstige invloed of geen gunstige maar ook geen ongunstige invloed zal hebben?

41a. Sommige mensen denken bij wat ze doen in de eerste plaats aan zichzelf of hun eigen welzijn. Andere mensen houden in hun gedrag steeds rekening met het welzijn van anderen.

ENQ: Kaart 18

Deze lijn loopt van 'gericht op het eigen welzijn' (bij cijfer 1) tot 'gericht op het welzijn van anderen' (bij cijfer 10). En er zijn natuurlijk ook mogelijkheden daar tussenin.

Als U zou moeten aangeven hoe DE MEESTE MENSEN zich gedragen, waar zou U hen dan plaatsen op deze lijn?
Noemt U maar het cijfer dat van toepassing is.

(voer een getal intussen 1 en 10)

41b. En waar zou U zichzelf op de lijn plaatsen?

(voer getal in tussen 1 en 10)

APPENDICES

APPENDIX 1: Construction of scale scores

This appendix is used in conjunction with VAR008, VAR035, VAR178, VAR201, VAR202, VAR223, VAR227, VAR242, and VAR266

The data file contains several series of variables which can be considered as indicators of a single latent construct. In many instances, the researcher will feel the need to assess the homogeneity (that is, unidimensionality) of these items, and, if possible, to combine them into a single score to be used in subsequent analyses. To facilitate the use of the data, such tests have already been performed. This appendix reports the construction of such scores of homogeneous sets of items on:

- political interest;
- policy satisfaction;
- nuclear weapons opinion;
- political knowledge;
- political efficacy;
- political cynicism;
- civic participation;
- confessional attitude.

All these sets of variables were analyzed with a scaling model known as 'Mokken scaling' (Mokken 1971; Niemöller and Van Schuur 1983). Within the Mokken model, items and individuals are viewed as occupying positions on a single latent continuum, which, for example, can run from 'not at all interested in politics' to 'very much interested in politics'. To be analyzed by means of the Mokken model, items have to be dichotomized. The dichotomized items vary in terms of their 'difficulty'; that is, for some items it takes less of the latent attribute to give a 'positive' answer than for other items. The model assumes a cumulative relationship between the responses given to the items and the latent attribute. For these reasons, Mokken scaling can best be viewed as a stochastic variant of the well-known cumulative Guttman scale.

The following three cautionary remarks apply to all reported analyses:

All items were dichotomized

Until the late 1980s, items had to be dichotomized before they could be analyzed by means of the Mokken model. Thanks to recent advancements in the field of Mokken scaling (e.g., Sijtsma 1988; Sijtsma, Debets, and Molenaar 1990), this is no longer the case. It has now become possible to consider each category as a so-called 'item step', and to think of these item steps (rather than items) as being ordered with individuals on the same latent continuum. However, within the context of this codebook, no such polytomous (i.e., multicategory) analyses were performed, although it should be realized that the dichotomous model is just a special case of the polytomous model. The main reason for not using the polytomous model was to maintain comparability with previous Dutch Parliamentary Election Studies, in which all items were dichotomized.

Different scale definitions are possible

The definition of a scale, and hence of a scale score, hinges on the decision which of the manifest responses are considered as an expression of the latent construct to be measured (or in other words, which responses are defined as 'positive'). The dichotomization into 'positive' and 'negative' responses can usually be made in various ways, each of which will yield its own coefficient of scalability, and its own distribution of scores. The scale definitions used here are conventional ones; that is, definitions which have proven to be useful in previous research in the Netherlands, and which make sense a priori as definitions of the construct under consideration. This, of course, does not preclude the possibility that for specific purposes other dichotomizations than those reported here might be preferable.

Not all sets of items were scaled

The analyses performed and reported here were undertaken to facilitate the use of the data. However, no claim is made that all possible sets of items which might form a scale were tested in this respect. For a number of scales it is possible to include more items than reported here. The reason for not doing so is, again, to maintain comparability with similar scales in earlier Dutch Parliamentary Election Studies. Analysts are therefore encouraged to perform their own scale analyses for sets of items which are not included in this appendix.

The following section describes the results of the scale analyses. The results were obtained by means of the computer program MSP (Mokken Scale analysis for Polychotomous items, Debets and Brouwer 1989). The results are reported below in terms of the difficulties of the items (i.e., the proportion of the sample providing a 'positive' response) and the scalability coefficients  $H$  and  $H_i$ . The first of these coefficients (i.e.,  $H$ ) yields information about the (unidimensional) scalability of the entire set of items, whereas the second ( $H_i$ ) reports the (unidimensional) scalability of each item vis-a-vis the other items combined. In general, the following guidelines are used for the interpretation of the size of these coefficients:

|     |   |       |               |     |   |                  |
|-----|---|-------|---------------|-----|---|------------------|
|     |   | $H$   | <             | .30 | - | no scale         |
| .40 | > | $H$   | $\frac{3}{4}$ | .30 | - | weak scale       |
| .50 | > | $H$   | $\frac{3}{4}$ | .40 | - | medium scale     |
|     |   | $H$   | $\frac{3}{4}$ | .50 | - | strong scale     |
|     |   |       |               |     |   |                  |
|     |   | $H_i$ | <             | .30 | - | nonscalable item |
| .40 | > | $H_i$ | $\frac{3}{4}$ | .30 | - | weak item        |
| .50 | > | $H_i$ | $\frac{3}{4}$ | .40 | - | medium item      |
|     |   | $H_i$ | $\frac{3}{4}$ | .50 | - | strong item      |

Scale scores have only been constructed and included in the data file if the scale conforms to the requirement that  $H \geq .40$  and the  $H_i \geq .30$ . An explanation of how to read the results of the analyses is provided solely for the political interest scale. All other reported results can be interpreted in an analogous way.

Political interest

The data file contains at least four items that can be viewed as indicators of respondents' level of political interest. These items are participation in political discussions, self-exposure to national and foreign news in newspapers, and subjective political interest (see the variable documentation part of the codebook for details, VAR004 to VAR007). Scale analysis yields the following results:

| Item | Label                   | Codes of 'positive' responses | Difficulty | H<sub>i</sub> |
|-------------|--------------------------------|--------------------------------------|-------------------|----------------------|
| VAR004      | Reads about national news?     | 1                                    | .31               | .64                  |
| VAR005      | Talks about national problems? | 1,2                                  | .88               | .68                  |
| VAR006      | Reads about foreign news?      | 1,2                                  | .45               | .68                  |
| VAR007      | Interested in politics?        | 1                                    | .14               | .61                  |

Scale coefficient for entire set of four items:  $H = .65$ .

Political interest score constructed, named VAR008, range 0-4.

The information above refers to:

- the variable names and labels used in the analysis (columns 'item' and 'label').
- the codes of the answers which were designated as indicative for the presence of a certain degree of political interest (column 'codes of 'positive' responses'). All other responses together constitute the 'negative' responses (reflecting the absence of the specified degree of political interest). The latter also include 'don't know' and 'not ascertained.'
- the proportion of the sample which answered positively on the respective items (column 'difficulty'). For example, 31% of the sample answered positively on VAR004 (that is, 31% of the sample answered by means of code 1, which stands for '(nearly) always').
- the scalability of the set, and of the separate items. As  $H$  is equal to .65, the items together constitute a strong scale; the  $H_i$  values indicate that all items fit very well in this scale.

The results of the scale analysis allow the construction of a political interest score (VAR008) by counting the number of times a respondent gave a 'positive' response on the four items involved. As there are four items under consideration, no less than zero and no more than four 'positive' answers can be given. Hence the values of the sum score range from zero to four. The distribution of the respondents over these scores (VAR008) is given in the variable documentation part of this codebook.

Policy satisfaction

The data file contains three variables in which respondents are asked to evaluate government policy (see the variable documentation part of the codebook, VAR032 to VAR034). The 'positive' answers are those which indicate satisfaction with government policy, or the evaluation that government policy has been beneficial to economic development, or to employment.

| Item | Label                                   | Codes of 'positive' responses | Difficulty | H<sub>i</sub> |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|-------------------|----------------------|
| VAR032      | Satisfaction with government                   | 1,2                                  | .35               | .45                  |
| VAR033      | Effect government policy on economic situation | 1                                    | .53               | .54                  |
| VAR034      | Effect government policy on employment         | 1                                    | .33               | .39                  |

Scale coefficient for entire set of three items:  $H = .45$ .

Policy satisfaction score constructed, named VAR035, range 0-3.

Readers should be aware that the Dutch Parliamentary Election Study 1986 contains a policy satisfaction score that was constructed on the basis of four items, rather than three. In addition to the three variables described above, the 1986 policy scores were also based on an item in which respondents were asked to indicate what effect past government policies had had on their own personal finances. This item was also included in the questionnaire of the first wave of the 1989 study and has been included in the data file as VAR036. However, scale analysis for the four items (rather than the three items reported above) showed the  $H_i$  for this item to be equal to .29, indicating a nonscalable item, and the overall  $H$  coefficient to be equal to .39. As there are good theoretical reasons for not expecting this item to scale in 1989 (and, indeed, to scale well in 1986), it has not been included as an item for the construction of the policy scale scores. The theoretical reasons involved have to do with idiosyncratic features of both elections and will not be described here.

Nuclear weapons opinion

The data file contains five items with information on how strongly respondents (dis)agreed with five statements concerning Dutch policy on nuclear armaments (see the variable documentation part of the codebook, VAR173 to VAR177). Mokken scale analysis yields the following results:

| Item | Label                  | Codes of 'positive' responses | Difficulty | H<sub>i</sub> |
|-------------|-------------------------------|--------------------------------------|-------------------|----------------------|
| VAR173      | Nuclear weapons - first item  | 1,2                                  | .42               | .47                  |
| VAR174      | Nuclear weapons - second item | 1,2                                  | .63               | .48                  |
| VAR175      | Nuclear weapons - third item  | 1,2                                  | .59               | .51                  |
| VAR176      | Nuclear weapons - fourth item | 4,5                                  | .41               | .45                  |
| VAR177      | Nuclear weapons - fifth item  | 5                                    | .29               | .41                  |

Scale coefficient for entire set of five items:  $H = .47$ .

Nuclear weapons opinion score constructed, named VAR178, range 0-5.

Political knowledge

The data file contains twelve indicators for political knowledge. During the interviews, the respondents were presented a sheet with four photographs of politicians, and were asked to say who the person in question is, which party he or she belongs to, and what his or her political function is

(see variable documentation part of the codebook, VAR189 to VAR200; refer to Appendix 5 for a description of the politicians). Following the 'standard' procedure in the Dutch Parliamentary Election Studies, the resulting twelve variables were recoded into four new variables. All of these new variables are dichotomous: code 1 was assigned if and only if the respondent gave the correct answer to all three questions pertaining to a single picture (i.e., name, party, and political function correct); code 0 was assigned in all other cases. These new variables, here referred to as A through D, were subsequently subjected to a Mokken scale analysis. The results of this analysis are as follows:

| Item | Label                                                | Difficulty | H<sub>i</sub> |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------|----------------------|
| A           | Beckers - name, party and political function correct        | .45               | .38                  |
| B           | Korthals Altes - name, party and political function correct | .38               | .42                  |
| C           | Kombrink - name, party and political function correct       | .14               | .63                  |
| D           | De Vries - name, party and political function correct       | .45               | .41                  |

Scale coefficient for entire set of four items:  $H = .43$ .

Political knowledge score (4 items) constructed, named VAR201, range 0-4.

In addition to this 'standard' analysis, an alternative analysis was performed on the basis of the twelve original variables, the results of which are as follows:

| Item | Label                         | Codes of 'positive' responses | Difficulty | H<sub>i</sub> |
|-------------|--------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|-------------------|----------------------|
| VAR189      | Photo a - Beckers                    | 1                                    | .77               | .53                  |
| VAR190      | Party of Beckers                     | 1                                    | .69               | .51                  |
| VAR191      | Political function of Beckers        | 1                                    | .55               | .46                  |
| VAR192      | Photo b - Korthals Altes             | 1                                    | .65               | .54                  |
| VAR193      | Party of Korthals Altes              | 1                                    | .47               | .50                  |
| VAR194      | Political function of Korthals Altes | 1                                    | .72               | .53                  |
| VAR195      | Photo c - Kombrink                   | 1                                    | .20               | .72                  |
| VAR196      | Party of Kombrink                    | 1                                    | .36               | .61                  |
| VAR197      | Political function of Kombrink       | 1                                    | .26               | .66                  |
| VAR198      | Photo d - De Vries                   | 1                                    | .77               | .61                  |
| VAR199      | Party of De Vries                    | 1                                    | .85               | .69                  |
| VAR200      | Political function of De Vries       | 1                                    | .47               | .51                  |

Scale coefficient for entire set of twelve items:  $H = .56$ .

Political knowledge score (12 items) constructed, named VAR202, range 0-12.

The use of the political knowledge score (4 items) is recommended in cases where the categories should contain a fair amount of cases, as is for example the case in tabular analyses. The use of political knowledge score (12 items) is recommended in cases where such a requirement is less critical, as is for example the case in correlational analyses.

Political efficacy

The data file contains a set of four items designed to tap respondents' sense of political efficacy (see the variable documentation part of this codebook, VAR219 to VAR222). Mokken scale analysis yields the following results:

| Item | Label                     | Codes of 'positive'responses | Difficulty | H<sub>i</sub> |
|-------------|----------------------------------|------------------------------------------|-------------------|----------------------|
| VAR219      | Political efficacy - first item  | 2                                        | .59               | .49                  |
| VAR220      | Political efficacy - second item | 2                                        | .56               | .49                  |
| VAR221      | Political efficacy - third item  | 2                                        | .53               | .44                  |
| VAR222      | Political efficacy - fourth item | 2                                        | .92               | .55                  |

Scale coefficient for entire set of four items:  $H = .48$ .

Political efficacy score constructed, named VAR223, range 0-4.

Political cynicism

The data file contains three items on political cynicism (see the variable documentation part of this codebook, VAR224 to VAR226). Mokken scale analysis yields the following results:

| Item | Label                     | Codes of 'positive'responses | Difficulty | H<sub>i</sub> |
|-------------|----------------------------------|------------------------------------------|-------------------|----------------------|
| VAR213      | Political cynicism - first item  | 1,2                                      | .84               | .55                  |
| VAR214      | Political cynicism - second item | 1,2                                      | .30               | .40                  |
| VAR215      | Political cynicism - third item  | 1,2                                      | .36               | .37                  |

Scale coefficient for entire set of three items:  $H = .41$ .

Political cynicism score constructed, named VAR227, range 0-3.

Civic participation

The data file contains thirteen variables that can be regarded as indicators of civic participation. Each of these variables contains information about whether the respondents had ever engaged in a specific form of civic participation (see the variable documentation part of this codebook, VAR229 to VAR241).

| Item | Label                              | Codes of 'positive'responses | Difficulty | H<sub>i</sub> |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|-------------------|----------------------|
| VAR229      | Did (not) contact cabinet ministers       | 1                                        | .04               | .31                  |
| VAR230      | Did (not) contact member of parliament    | 1                                        | .08               | .44                  |
| VAR231      | Did (not) sign a petition                 | 1                                        | .62               | .68                  |
| VAR232      | Did (not) try to activate interest group  | 1                                        | .19               | .48                  |
| VAR233      | Did (not) try to activate radio or tv     | 1                                        | .05               | .36                  |
| VAR234      | Did (not) try to activate political party | 1                                        | .11               | .47                  |
| VAR235      | Did (not) contact mayor or alderman       | 1                                        | .14               | .42                  |
| VAR236      | Did (not) contact municipal councillor    | 1                                        | .19               | .46                  |
| VAR237      | Did (not) join civic action group         | 1                                        | .20               | .42                  |
| VAR238      | Did (not) join demonstration              | 1                                        | .27               | .37                  |
| VAR239      | Did (not) try to activate newspaper       | 1                                        | .09               | .47                  |
| VAR240      | Did (not) lodge a complaint               | 1                                        | .17               | .36                  |

APPENDIX 1 - CONSTRUCTION OF SCALE SCORES

---

VAR241 Did (not) contact department official 1 .07 .44

Scale coefficient for entire set of thirteen items:  $H = .44$ .

Civic participation score constructed, named VAR242, range 0-13.

It should be noted that the skewness of many of the items (for 12 out of the 13 items, the proportion of positive responses is smaller than .30) may have affected scalability in a negative sense. Furthermore, the large number of zero scores on the scale may obscure the distinctions between separate, but correlated, subdimensions, if those would exist. For these reasons, the scale scores provided in the data file should be used with some caution; if the participation domain itself is the subject of investigation, the analyst is recommended to analyze the dimensionality of these items in more depth.

Confessional attitude

The data file contains a series of five items concerning religion as a guide in politics and whether or not social institutions should be confessional or secular in character (see the variable documentation part of this codebook, VAR261 to VAR265). The underlying continuum can be interpreted as support for the organization of social institutions on a religious basis, which may be either confessional or interconfessional.

| Item | Label                              | Codes of 'positive'responses | Difficulty | H<sub>i</sub> |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|-------------------|----------------------|
| VAR261      | Should there be confessional parties?     | 2,3                                      | .37               | .70                  |
| VAR262      | Should there be confessional unions?      | 2,3                                      | .28               | .77                  |
| VAR263      | Should there be confessional schools?     | 2,3                                      | .53               | .74                  |
| VAR264      | Should there be confessional radio or tv? | 2,3                                      | .41               | .63                  |
| VAR265      | Is religion a good guide in politics?     | 1,2                                      | .38               | .56                  |

Scale coefficient for entire set of four items:  $H = .67$ .

Confessional attitude score constructed, named VAR266, range 0-5.

APPENDIX 2: Daily newspaper

This appendix is used in conjunction with VAR010 to VAR013

The data file contains four variables concerning the name(s) of the newspapers respondents read on a daily basis. This appendix contains a description of the coding categories that were used and a description of the frequency distributions of the coded variables.

The first eight codes were presented directly on the screen of the interviewer's laptop computer. The names of these newspapers could easily be stored by typing the associated code. For all other newspapers, the names had to be typed directly into the computer. These names were checked and cleaned with the aid of a catalogue that contains a listing of all current and former newspapers, weekly magazines and other periodicals (CCD 1989). Up to four different answers were coded.

Codes 1 to 7 refer to general public daily newspapers, while the other codes refer to regional daily newspapers, or to newspapers directed at specific publics (e.g., code 9, which involves a paper which is primarily directed at agrarians).

VAR010 contains the newspaper that was mentioned first by the respondent; VAR011, VAR012, and VAR013 contain the names of the newspaper that were mentioned second, third, and fourth, respectively.

The frequency distributions of the variables are as follows:

| Code | Newspaper           | VAR010 | VAR011 | VAR012 | VAR013 |

INAP codes were assigned in all cases after the respondent had indicated that he or she did not read papers (code 90), could not tell the name of the paper he or she claims to read on a daily basis (code 97), no further answers had been given (code 95), or no answer had been ascertained (code 98).

APPENDIX 3: Most important national problems

This appendix is used in conjunction with VAR014 to VAR018 and VAR305 to VAR310

The data file contains five variables concerning the problems that the respondents thought were "the most important in our country" (VAR014 to VAR018). The values of these five variables were assigned on the basis of a newly developed coding scheme. This coding scheme will be described in this appendix, along with the frequency distribution for each of the five variables.

The interviewers were instructed to type the answers to the most important problem question directly into their laptop computers. These 'verbatim' answers were coded in order of appearance as recorded by the interviewer. Up to five different answers were coded.

The coding scheme used for coding the national problems is a much more detailed one than those used in previous Dutch Parliamentary Election Studies. There are two important reasons for developing a new coding scheme. First, the older coding schemes were rather limited in terms of the political problems that could be dealt with successfully. Second, it was felt that the older coding schemes were rather crude, and that a more detailed coding scheme would facilitate analyses that could not be performed on the basis of the older codes. Therefore, a coding scheme was developed whose coded answers stay as close as possible to the original 'verbatim' answers as recorded by the interviewer.

In order to facilitate longitudinal analyses, the 'verbatim' answers have also been coded on the basis of the coding scheme that was employed in the Dutch Parliamentary Election Study 1986 (refer to Van der Eijk, Irwin, and Niemöller (1988) for a description of the coding scheme). These variables were coded by the Netherlands Central Bureau of Statistics and were added to the end of the data file (VAR306 to VAR310).

The 'verbatim' answers as recorded by the interviewers have also been stored in a separate alphanumeric variable (VAR305). This variable was cleaned and corrected for spelling errors. Users should be aware that these answers are all in Dutch, and that English translations are not available.

The following remarks apply to the codes obtained by means of the new coding scheme:

- Each code contains five digits. The first three digits indicate the general substantive problem (e.g., aids, defense, aliens). The fourth digit pertains to a more detailed distinction (e.g., defense cuts, defense expenses), while the fifth digit pertains to still finer distinctions (e.g., defense expenses too high, defense expenses too low). Users are recommended to collapse the codes along the third or the fourth digit if all they need is a crude categorization of the most important problems.
- The interviewers were not explicitly instructed to mark separate political problems. In a small number of cases, this has led to some difficulties in determining the exact number of problems mentioned by the respondent. This problem was solved by relying on the context of the complete answer given by the respondent.

- A considerable proportion of the political problems in the coding scheme are deeply rooted in the Dutch political context. Consequently, it is not always easy to provide a satisfactory English translation for these problems. Therefore, the English descriptions of the codes are followed by their original descriptions in Dutch.
- Some of the codes in the new coding scheme were not assigned to any of the respondents. These codes have nonetheless been included to preserve the consistency of the coding scheme and to facilitate its future use.

The new coding scheme, with its translation in Dutch, is presented below. The distinction in terms of the first three digits, the fourth digit, and the fifth digit of the codes is shown graphically by the use of indents.

INAP codes were assigned in all cases after the respondent had indicated that there were no important problems (code 90000), the respondent could not mention an important problem (code 99997), no further answers had been given (code 99995), or no answer had been ascertained (code 99998).

APPENDIX 4: Construction of variables on party adherence

This appendix is used in conjunction with VAR027 and VAR028

The data file contains five variables with information on party adherence (VAR022 to VAR026). From these variables, two additional variables were constructed, one indicating the strength of adherence (VAR027) and the other indicating the direction of adherence (VAR028). This appendix shows how these variables have been constructed.

To facilitate the explanation of the construction of the added variables, this appendix starts with a listing of the questions and labels of the original party adherence variables. This section will then be followed by a shorter section on how exactly VAR027 and VAR028 were constructed from these variables.

VAR022      Respondent is (not) an adherent to a party

QUEST 9a

Many people think of themselves as adherents to a particular political party, but there are also people who do not think of themselves as an adherent to a political party. Do you think of yourself as an adherent or not as an adherent to a political party?

1.    adherent
2.    not adherent
7.    DK
8.    NA

VAR023      Party respondent is an adherent to

QUEST 9b

To which party?

1.    PvdA
2.    CDA
3.    VVD
4.    D66
5.    Groen Links
6.    CPN
7.    PPR
8.    PSP
9.    SGP
10.   GPV
11.   RPF
13.   EVP
14.   SP
97.   DK

- 98. NA
- 99. INAP (VAR022, codes 2-8)

VAR024      Respondent is (not) convinced adherent

- QUEST 9c      Would you call yourself a convinced adherent to this party, or do you not consider yourself to be a convinced adherent?
- 1. convinced adherent
  - 2. not convinced adherent
  - 7. DK
  - 9. INAP (VAR022, codes 2-8)

VAR025      Respondent is not an adherent but attracted to a party

- QUEST 9d      Is there a party to which you feel more attracted than to other parties?
- 1. attracted
  - 2. not attracted
  - 7. DK
  - 8. NA
  - 9. INAP (VAR022, code 1)

VAR026      Party respondent is attracted to

- QUEST 9e      Which party is that?
- 1. PvdA
  - 2. CDA
  - 3. VVD
  - 4. D66
  - 5. Groen Links
  - 6. CPN
  - 7. PPR
  - 8. PSP
  - 9. SGP
  - 10. GPV
  - 11. RPF

  - 14. SP
  - 15. De Groenen
  - 18. Vrouwenpartij
  - 97. DK
  - 98. NA
  - 99. INAP (VAR025, code 2-9)

The variable indicating the strength of adherence (VAR027) was constructed as follows:

| Code | Label                    | Assigned if                                      |

The variable indicating the direction of adherence (VAR028) is defined as the party to which the respondent adheres to or to which he or she is attracted to. This means that VAR028 is equal to VAR023 when the respondent is a party adherent and that VAR028 is equal to VAR024 when the respondent is attracted to a party. In all other cases (that is, in which the respondent is not an adherent and is not attracted to a party) VAR028 was coded as INAP.

APPENDIX 5: Dutch politicians

This appendix is used in conjunction with VAR075 to VAR085, VAR189 to VAR200, VAR203 to VAR205, and VAR277 to VAR287

The data file contains several variables that are based on references to one or more Dutch politicians. This appendix provides a brief description of these politicians in terms of their function and their partisan affiliation.

| Name    | Description of politician                                                                                                                                                 |

APPENDIX 6: Education

This appendix is used in conjunction with VAR094 and VAR101

The data file contains two variables pertaining to educational attainment. VAR094 contains measurements for the respondent's education level, while VAR101 contains similar measurements for the head of household. This appendix provides a description of the meaning of the codes of both education variables. To facilitate comparisons with previous election studies, these descriptions are given in terms of the previously used categorizations.

Education of respondent (VAR094):

information on both VAR094 and VAR101. Contact the SKON secretariat for more information.

APPENDIX 7: EGP codings

This appendix is used in conjunction with VAR097, VAR098, VAR102, and VAR103

The data file contains four variables with a typology of social class. This typology was constructed according to the class scheme developed by Erikson, Goldthorpe, and Portocarero (1979), resulting in so-called EGP codings (also refer to Goldthorpe 1980; Erikson, Goldthorpe, and Portocarero 1983; Ganzeboom, Luijkx, and Treiman 1989; Erikson and Goldthorpe 1992). This appendix provides a description of the meaning of each of the EGP codings.

The EGP codes can be viewed as a typology constructed from four different job attributes:

- a.sector (nonmanual workers, manual workers, farm);
- b.employment (self-employed versus salaried);
- c.skill level (skilled, semiskilled, unskilled);
- d.supervisory status (number of people supervised or employed: none, few, many).

The Cartesian product of these four variables (that is, all possible combinations of categories) consists of  $3 \times 2 \times 3 \times 3 = 54$  elements. Several types of EGP coding schemes exist, which vary in the number of categories into which these 54 elements are collapsed.

The variables in the data file are all based on the ten category coding scheme. The original Roman numbers of the EGP codings are displayed in a separate column.

APPENDIX 8: Typology of household composition

This appendix is used in conjunction with VAR099

The data file contains a special variable with a typology of household composition. This typology is constructed on the basis of marital status, age, occupation, and number and age of children in the household. This appendix provides a description of the meaning of the codes of the household composition variable and a description of the associated frequency distribution.

APPENDIX 9: Degree of urbanization and region

This appendix is used in conjunction with VAR105 and VAR106

The data file contains two variables pertaining to degree of urbanization and region. The classification of municipalities according to degree of urbanization and region were designed by the Netherlands Central Bureau of Statistics (CBS 1983). This appendix provides a description of the meaning of the codes of both degree of urbanization and region.

APPENDIX 10: Motivation for party choice

This appendix is used in conjunction with VAR148 to VAR152

The data file contains five variables with information offered by the respondents when asked to motivate their party choice. This appendix contains a description of the meaning of the codes and the frequency distributions of the five variables.

The responses were coded in order of appearance as recorded by the interviewer, with the exception of the answer "best party." This answer provides only a minimum of information and for that reason has always been coded as the last response given by the respondent (i.e., second, third, fourth, or fifth reason), even if it had been provided first.

The following remarks apply to the codes obtained by means of the new coding scheme:

- The coding scheme described below differs from those used in previous Dutch Parliamentary Election Studies, in terms of both coding and content.
- Each code contains three digits. Codes 100, 150, 200, etc. indicate the general motive (e.g., representation of interests, power relations), whereas the remaining codes pertain to more detailed distinctions (e.g., satisfaction with coalition, dissatisfaction with coalition). Users are recommended to collapse the codes along these categories if all they need is a crude categorization of the motives.
- The interviewers were not explicitly instructed to mark separate motives. In a small number of cases, this has led to some difficulties in determining the exact number of motives that the respondent mentioned. This problem was solved by relying on the context of the complete answer given by the respondent.
- Some of the codes in the coding scheme were not assigned to any of the respondents. These codes have nonetheless been included to preserve the consistency of the coding scheme, to facilitate comparisons with previous election studies, and to facilitate the scheme's future use.

The coding scheme is presented below. The distinction in terms of the main codes and the more detailed codes is shown graphically by the use of indents.

INAP codes were assigned if the respondent had not cast a vote (VAR146, code 2), and after the respondent did not know what answer to give (code 997), no answer had been ascertained (code 998), or no further answers had been given (code 995).

APPENDIX 11: Name of candidate respondent voted for

This appendix is used in conjunction with VAR156

The data file contains one variable with the name of the candidate for whom the respondent voted for in the 1989 parliamentary elections. This appendix contains an overview of the codes and the associated names of the candidates.

The information stored in this variable was checked and cleaned by means of Staatscourant (1989). This source included a list of all the candidates who were on the ballot in at least one of the 19 so-called 'Kieskringen' in the Netherlands (a Kieskring is the largest administrative election unit within which the ballots are identical).

APPENDIX 12: Motivation for not voting

This appendix is used in conjunction with VAR165

The data file contains one variable with information on respondents' motivations for not casting a vote. This appendix provides a description of the codes and the associated frequency distribution.

The following remarks apply to the codes obtained by means of the coding scheme described below:

- The coding scheme is somewhat more detailed than those used in previous Dutch Parliamentary Election Studies, but is still compatible with them.
- Each code contains two digits. The first digit indicates the general motive for not voting (e.g., physical and personal circumstances, absence), whereas the second digit pertains to more detailed distinctions (e.g., too late, had to work). Users are recommended to collapse the codes along the first digit if all they need is a crude categorization of the motives.
- Some of the codes in the coding scheme were not assigned to any of the respondents. These codes have nonetheless been included to preserve the consistency of the coding scheme, to facilitate comparisons with previous election studies, and to facilitate the scheme's future use.

The coding scheme is presented below. The distinction in terms of the main codes and the more detailed codes is shown graphically by the use of indents.

APPENDIX 13: Union membership

This appendix is used in conjunction with VAR245

The data file contains one variable pertaining to the name of the labor union of which the respondent is a member. This appendix contains a description of the meaning of the codes, a description of the frequency distribution, and an explanation of the acronyms by which the labor unions are generally known.

The information stored in this variable was checked and cleaned with the aid of Hansen (1989), which contains an overview of all labor unions in the Netherlands.

Most labor unions in the Netherlands are affiliated with two larger unions, the FNV (Federation of Dutch Labor Unions) and the CNV (Christian National Labor Union). If a union is affiliated with either of these two unions, this is indicated by the name of the parent union (FNV or CNV) behind the name of the labor union. Unions that are not followed by a name between parentheses are not affiliated with another union. Information about whether the respondent thinks that his or her union is affiliated with either the CNV or the FNV was stored in a separate variable, namely VAR246.

Not only employees, but employers, too, have their own organizations. Such employer organizations (rather than labor unions in the strict sense of the word) were assigned codes 80 through 85.

APPENDIX 14: Construction of scale scores for postmaterialism

This appendix is used in conjunction with VAR267 to VAR276

The data file contains two sets of stimuli that are commonly used in the literature for the construction of scores to measure (post)materialism. The first set of variables consists of VAR267 to VAR270, and is known as the 4-item set for postmaterialism; the second set of items is stored in VAR271 to VAR276 and is known as the 8-item set. Current procedures for measuring (post)materialist orientations are based on the assumption that either or both sets of items tap a latent continuum that runs from materialist to postmaterialist (see, e.g., Van Deth 1983; Inglehart 1990). This appendix reports the results of an empirical test of this assumption of unidimensionality. It will do so for both sets of items separately.

Most tests of the unidimensionality of either set of (post)materialism items have been plagued by the dependence of the rank orders of the items, or, in other words, the problem of ipsative measurement. Due to this problem, factor analytic techniques are not appropriate for testing the dimensionality of the items (although it has been rightfully argued that when the number of items becomes large enough this problem will tend to become less serious; see, e.g., Inglehart 1990). In this appendix, these problems will be simply avoided by employing a measurement model which is known as MUDFOLD (Multiple UniDimensional unFOLDing, Van Schuur 1984). This model can best be described in Coombsian terms as 'stochastic unfolding'.

Within MUDFOLD, items are viewed as occupying positions on a single latent continuum, which, in the case of the items discussed here, runs from materialist to postmaterialist. MUDFOLD does not take the full preference ordering of the items into account. Instead, the  $k$  available items are dichotomized in  $n$  items that are 'preferred' and  $(k-n)$  items that are 'not preferred' (pick  $n/k$ ). For example, a 'pick 3/8' analysis is one in which there are eight items and where the three most preferred items are coded as 'preferred', while the remaining five items are coded as 'not preferred'.

The scalability of a set of items can be expressed in terms of the scalability coefficient  $H$ . In general, the following guidelines are used for the interpretation of the size of this coefficient:

|     |     |               |                   |                |
|-----|-----|---------------|-------------------|----------------|
|     | $H$ | $<$           | .30               | - no scale     |
| .40 | $>$ | $H$           | $\frac{3}{3}$ .30 | - weak scale   |
| .50 | $>$ | $H$           | $\frac{3}{3}$ .40 | - medium scale |
|     | $H$ | $\frac{3}{3}$ | .50               | - strong scale |

Note that these guidelines are similar to those described for the scaling coefficients  $H$  and  $H_i$  in the Mokken model as described in Appendix 1. Once an unfolding scale of a (sub)set of stimuli has been found, it is possible to derive scale scores for both the stimuli and the subjects.

Results of the MUDFOLD analysis

The results of the MUDFOLD analyses will now be discussed for the 4-item battery and the 8-item battery, respectively. All scalability coefficients presented below were computed by means of the program MUDFOLD (Van Schuur and Wierstra 1987).

The 4-item battery contains the following goals:

- a. maintain order in the nation;
- b. give people more say in the decisions of the government;
- c. fight rising prices;
- d. protect freedom of speech.

Following Inglehart (1990), these items can be expected to be ordered on the (post)materialist continuum as follows: c, a, b, d. In this ordering, item c is closest to the materialist end of the continuum and item d is closest to the postmaterialist end. A so-called 'pick 2/4' MUDFOLD analysis tested explicitly whether the items in the data file (VAR267 to VAR270) conformed to this hypothesized ordering. Unfortunately, the scalability coefficient  $H$  was found to be equal to .13, implying that the four items do not form a unidimensional unfolding scale. Therefore, no scale scores were included in the data file.

The 8-item battery contains the following goals:

- A. maintain a high rate of economic growth;
- B. make sure that this country has strong defense forces;
- C. give people more say in how things are decided at work and in their community;
- D. try to make our cities and countryside more beautiful;
- E. maintain stable economy;
- F. fight against crime;
- G. move toward a friendlier, less impersonal society;
- H. move toward a society where ideas are more important than money.

Following Inglehart (1990), these eight items can be expected to be ordered from materialist to postmaterialist as follows: (A,E)(B,F)(C,G)(D,H). Note that for the item pairs within parentheses the ordering is not a priori clear. This implies that, as far as all eight items are concerned, the theory allows for sixteen possible orderings (each of which will be described below). For each of these, a separate 'pick 3/8' MUDFOLD analysis was carried out on the basis of the three most preferred goals (VAR271, VAR272, and VAR273). These sixteen analyses were performed to test explicitly whether the data conformed to any of the sixteen permitted orderings of the eight items. The results are as follows:

| Ordering ofitems tested | H-value | Conclusion |
|-------------------------------------|----------------|-------------------|
| AEBFCGDH                            | .07            | no scale          |

| AEFBCGHD                            | .10            | no scale          |
| EAFCBGHD                            | .09            | no scale          |
| AEBFGCHD                            | .06            | no scale          |
| EABFGCHD                            | .05            | no scale          |
| AEFBGCHD                            | .10            | no scale          |
| EAFBGCHD                            | .08            | no scale          |

These results lead to the conclusion that the items of the 8-item battery in the data file do not conform to any of the sixteen hypothesized orderings. Therefore, no scale scores were included in the data file.

This finding, however, may be an artifact of the assumption that items that belong to the same item pair (i.e., the items between parentheses) are ordered in one way or another. Instead, one might argue that even the assumption of the presence of an ordering per se is inappropriate and that, therefore, one should expect no ordering at all. Viewed from this perspective, the absence of an ordering within the four item pairs is likely to have kept the scalability coefficients artificially low. As a check for this possibility, a second set of MUDFOLD analyses was run for all permitted orderings of subsets of four items in which each item belongs to one of the four item pairs (these orderings will be described below). The results of these analyses were as follows:

| Ordering ofitems tested | H-value | Conclusion |
|-------------------------------------|----------------|-------------------|
| ABCD                                | -.04           | no scale          |
| ABCH                                | .26            | no scale          |
| ABGD                                | .21            | no scale          |

| EBGD                                | -.01           | no scale          |
| EBGH                                | .10            | no scale          |
| EFCD                                | .11            | no scale          |
| EFCH                                | .14            | no scale          |
| EFGD                                | .02            | no scale          |
| EFGH                                | .19            | no scale          |

These results point to the existence of three weak joint scales (ABGH, AFCH, and AFGH). However, the overall impression of both sets of analyses is that the eight items do not tap a single underlying continuum running from 'materialist' to 'postmaterialist'. Hence, no scale scores were included in the data file.

The same two sets of sixteen analyses were performed on the basis of the three least preferred items (VAR274 to VAR276). The results of these analyses did not alter any of the conclusions presented above.

APPENDIX 15: Weighting

This appendix is used in conjunction with VAR290, VAR291 and VAR292

The data file contains three variables (VAR290, VAR291, and VAR292), each of which contains a different set of weighting coefficients by means of which the data can be weighted as to accord to known population distributions (such as sex or age). This appendix provides a brief description of these three variables and the way in which they were derived.

All weight coefficients were calculated by means of the multiplicative weighting procedure as implemented in the computer program BASCULA (Göttgens et al. 1991; refer to Bethlehem and Kersten (1986) for a detailed description of the weighting methods). All weight coefficients were calculated on the basis of the population information provided by the Netherlands Central Bureau of Statistics.

Weight variable VAR292 was supplied by CBS and is based upon population distributions of sex, degree of urbanization, age, marital status, size of household, region and voting behavior in the parliamentary elections of September 1989. The use of VAR292 will yield the exact outcome of the parliamentary elections of 1989. However, users should be aware that VAR292 contains a number of weights that are either very large or very small. Further information about the derivation of this weight variable and its performance can be found in Schmeets and Molin (1990).

The other two weight variables, VAR290 and VAR291, are comparable to the weighting variables as included in previous Dutch Parliamentary Election Studies. They are based upon population distributions of sex, degree of urbanization, and age. To avoid either very large or very small weighting coefficients, the number of strata has been kept small by collapsing some of the categories of urbanization and age. The use of the weights stored in VAR290 and VAR291 reduces the discrepancy between the outcome of the 1989 election and the concomitant distribution in the unweighted sample.

VAR290 and VAR291 differ from each other in the number of weights that are equal to zero. VAR290 contains no such weights, while VAR291 contains zero weights for all respondents who participated only in the first wave, and not in the second. Users are recommended to use VAR290 to weigh the data if all relevant information has been collected during the first wave of interviews. If, however, part of the required information was collected during the second wave of interviews (that is, if there is panel attrition), VAR291 should be used.

The population and sample distributions of the variables that were used for the creation of VAR290 and VAR291 are as follows:

Sex:

| Code | Label | population | wave 1 | wave 2 |
|-------------|--------------|-------------------|---------------|---------------|
| 1.          | male         | 48.6%             | 50.9%         | 52.5%         |
| 2.          | female       | 51.4%             | 49.1%         | 47.5%         |

Urbanization (refer to Appendix 9 for a description of the codes):

| Code | Label | population | wave 1 | wave 2 |
|-------------|--------------|-------------------|---------------|---------------|
| 1.          | A3-A4        | 11.1%             | 12.7%         | 13.1%         |

APPENDIX 16: Comparability of questions with previous election studies

This appendix contains an overview of the questions asked in previous Dutch Parliamentary Election Studies that are comparable to the questions asked in the 1989 Study.

A complete review of questions that are more or less comparable to those in earlier studies can only be obtained through a detailed inspection of all relevant questionnaires, and with a clearly defined research objective in mind. For this reason, a general purpose codebook can only present a description on the basis of approximate nominal comparability. This means that only those questions will be listed that are (almost) identical to those in other studies in terms of question wording, without any claims as to whether or not this is a necessary or sufficient condition for substantive comparability.

The following list contains only the questions (indicated by their question number) in the 1989 study that are identical in formulation and presentation to questions in previous Dutch Parliamentary Election Studies (1971-1986). Questions that are similar but more than marginally different in wording have been excluded. Also excluded were questions pertaining to background characteristics such as sex and age.

The first column of the list contains the numbers of the questions in the first wave of the 1989 election study, the second column contains the numbers of the questions in the second wave of the 1989 study, the third column contains the numbers of the questions in the first wave of the 1986 study, and so on until the second wave of the 1971 study (which was the first election study to be conducted under the auspices of an interuniversity workgroup).

A much more detailed overview of the comparability of the questions in the Dutch Parliamentary Election Studies is provided by Van Deth and Horstman (1989). In addition to the question numbers, this 'source book' contains an overview of the associated variable numbers in the respective data files. The book also contains an overview of the frequency distributions for each variable, both in the separate studies as well as the combined distribution over all election years. This source book is currently being updated as to contain the relevant information of the 1989 study. Contact the SKON secretariat for further information.

APPENDIX 17: Context and outcome of the 1989 parliamentary elections

This appendix contains a brief description of both the context and the outcome of the 1989 parliamentary elections. This description only serves a general purpose to familiarize the users of the data file with the context of the 1989 Dutch parliamentary elections. For more specific research purposes, analysts will have to prepare their own reports. The contextual description was taken from Anker (1992), which in turn was partly based on reports presented elsewhere in the literature (Lucardie and Voerman 1990, Anker and Oppenhuis 1990, and Wolinetz 1990). The description of the outcome of the 1989 parliamentary elections was taken from CBS (1990).

Context of the 1989 parliamentary elections

The elections for the Second Chamber of Parliament of September 6, 1989 were called early, due to the fall of the Lubbers-II cabinet on May 2nd earlier that year. This cabinet, formed by the Christian Democratic CDA and the Conservative Liberal VVD, had been governing since the summer of 1986.

In its first year, the newly installed Lubbers-II cabinet led a relatively quiet life. The more or less ritual skirmishes between the coalition partners aside, it was not before the summer of 1988 when the first cracks of the coalition became apparent. At that time, VVD leader Joris Voorhoeve accused prime minister Lubbers of being personally involved in leaking important information about the imminent abrogation of a law on investment subsidies. The relationship between the two leaders definitely turned sour after a number of other incidents.

In April 1989, the financial consequences of the National Environmental Plan became public after a meeting of the cabinet. One of the ways in which the plan was to be financed was by the elimination of a tax deduction for the costs of driving to work (reiskostenforfait). After some hesitation, the VVD members in the Second Chamber objected against this part of the plan. They were fully conscious that this would put them on a collision track with their coalition partner (CDA) and with the VVD members of the cabinet as well. Prime minister Lubbers urged the VVD "to think it over once more", but had eventually to conclude that his cabinet no longer enjoyed the support of the VVD. The next day, on May 3, Lubbers formally submitted his government's resignation to Queen Beatrix. In doing so, the Lubbers-II cabinet became the first government in the world to fall over an environmental issue.

Elections were called for September 6, 1989, and, quite logically, these elections were colored by the events of May. The fall of the cabinet had indirectly eased many tensions that had existed for a long time between the PvdA and the CDA. As a result, a center-left coalition seemed a realistic possibility for the first time since 1982. A center-right cabinet still could not be ruled out completely (the VVD basically had no other choice and the CDA did not want to rule out any options), but had become unlikely in the light of the cabinet crisis that had caused this early election.

Unlike the campaign of 1986, which focused predominantly on the past economic performance of the Lubbers-I cabinet, the campaign of 1989 was strongly future-oriented. PvdA leader Kok, anxious to share power, emphasized the need for improving the nation's infrastructure, the need to create more funds to protect the environment, and the need to link the development of government salaries and social benefits to the income development in the corporate sector (koppeling). Simultaneously, Kok emphasized his willingness to share governing power with the Christian Democrats. CDA leader Lubbers defended the record of his previous two cabinets, warned against reckless spending now that the economy was finally in better shape, but also indicated that he considered the PvdA as a serious potential coalition partner. Other issues, including the National Environment Plan, only played a subordinate role in the election campaign.

The outcome of the 1989 parliamentary elections

The result of the 1989 election showed that the VVD lost five seats compared to the elections of 1986. The CDA retained the 54 seats that the party had won in 1986. The PvdA lost three seats and went down to 49 seats, whereas D66 gained three seats and arrived at a total of twelve. Green Left also gained three seats, much to the party's disappointment as the polls had promised larger gains. On the right end of the political spectrum, the orthodox Protestant party GPV captured its second seat; the remaining orthodox Protestant parties remained steady at the level of 1986. Finally, the ethnocentric Center-Democrats recaptured the single seat they had lost in the election of 1986.

The outcome of the 1989 Second Chamber elections in terms of the numbers of valid votes, invalid votes, and abstentions is as follows:

|                                   |            |        |
|-----------------------------------|------------|--------|
| Number of valid votes             | 8,893,302  | 80.0%  |
| Number of invalid votes           | 26,485     | 0.3%   |
| Number of abstentions             | 2,192,402  | 18.7%  |
| Total number of eligible citizens | 11,112,189 | 100.0% |

A total of 25 parties were on at least one of the ballots in the 19 'Kieskringen' (this is the largest administrative election unit within which the ballots are identical). The valid votes were distributed over these 25 parties as follows (the acronyms of the parties are explained after the listing of the election outcome):

| Party | absolutenumber of votes | percentage ofpopular vote |
|--------------|-------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|

| CDA        | - Christian democratic party, founded in 1980. The CDA is a merger of the Catholic People's Party (KVP), Anti-Revolutionary Party (ARP) and Christian Historical Union (CHU). Both the ARP and CHU are Protestant Christian parties. The Christian Democratic party - or its most important predecessor KVP - has been the spill around which government coalitions have been formed since 1917. |
| PvdA       | - Labor party, successor of the Social Democratic Workers Party (SDAP)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| VVD        | - Conservative liberal party                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| D66        | - Progressive liberal party, founded in 1966.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| SGP        | - Orthodox Protestant party                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| RPF        | - Orthodox Protestant party                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| CD         | - Extreme right party, successor of the Center party (Centrumpartij). Both parties tend to be indistinguishable, which is also reflected in the questionnaires where the CD is consistently referred to as Centrumpartij. For these reasons, the label 'CD/Centrumpartij' is used throughout this codebook and the data file, even though, strictly speaking, CD is the only proper acronym.     |

APPENDIX 20: Information about the micro file

In addition to the public documentation file, which has been documented in this codebook, the Dutch Parliamentary Election Study 1989 is also available in the form of a so-called 'micro file.' This file contains some additional information that is not included in the documentation file. Prospective users of the micro file should be aware that the micro file has not been cleaned, that all labels are in Dutch, and that the variable names are not identical to those in the documentation file.

The micro file contains more detailed information on the following variables:

- degree of urbanization;
- education of head of household.
- occupational status of respondent;
- occupational status of head of household;

The micro file contains the following variables that were excluded from the public documentation file:

- electoral cohort;
- age (categorized), marital status, and sex of members of household;
- number of individuals in household;
- number of eligible persons in household;
- province;
- size of municipality;
- verbatim answer to question on motivation for party choice;
- verbatim answer to question on motivation for not voting;
- verbatim answer to question on motivation for preferential vote.

Prospective users of the micro file should be aware that this file, too, is protected against the identification of individual respondents. This means that the micro file still lacks the following information:

- full information on did (not) vote in 1989 European elections;
- full information on age (birth date) of all members of the household, including the respondent;
- full information on education of respondent;
- full information on education of head of household;
- full information on household composition;
- municipality code;
- nodal area code.
- all information on history of fieldwork;

The only way to use this information is by visiting the CBS offices and making use of their research facilities.

According to CBS's current privacy protection policy, the information in this file should be considered as potentially harmful as it may, in theory, and when properly combined, result in the identification of one or more of the respondents. For this reason, the micro file is not distributed by the major data archives. Consequently, readers who would actually like to use this file should contact CBS directly. CBS will then send them a contract, which they need to sign, along with the director or president of the organization they are affiliated with.
